Red Missiles Hit U. S. Navy Plane In North Viet Nam

Ground War With Viet Cong Withers; Report Small Actions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army troops came under withering Communist fire today near Saigon and in the coastal ricelands. Over North Viet Nam, a pair of Soviet-made missiles knocked a Navy jet out of the sky

The brace of surface-to-air missiles hit the Navy A4 Skyhawk during a raid Wednesday on Hon Mat Island, 33 miles south of the North Vietnamese coastal city of Thanh Hoa, a U.S. spokesman reported. The pilot bailed out over the South China Sea and was rescued by a helicopter from the guided-missile frigate England

The loss of the jet fighter-bomber was the first attributed to missiles since the United States ended the 37-day bombing pause on Jan. 31. Navy and Air Force planes kept up the heavy schedule of attacks on the Communist North, hitting bridges, trucks and railroad box cars.

Intense Fire

Pilots reported intense antiaircraft fire, which American military officials saw as proof of their warnings that the North Vietnamese would strengthen their air defenses during the suspension of raids.

The heaviest action on the ground broke out near Cu Chi, 25 miles west of Saigon, when a large number of Viet Cong snipers and mortar men rose like jacks-in-the-box from camouflaged openings in the huge tunnel complex in the area.

They poured heavy fire on two companies of the U. S. 25th Division who recently established positions in the area. The fighting broke out almost within hailing distance of their headquarter's area.

Little Success

Army helicopters fired rockets at suspected Communist mortar positions, but it appeared they did not have much success. The Viet Cong apparently pulled back into their tunnels, which run for miles and

Two Writers Go on Trial In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet writers went on trial today for their anti-Soviet works published abroad but refused to plead guilty.

The trial has become the Soviet Union's most important literary case since Boris Pasternak was forced to refuse the Nobel Prize in 1958

Andrei D. Sinyavsky, a leading critic and lecturer, and Yuli M. Daniel, a translator and critic, were charged with writing anti-Soviet propaganda under the pseudonyms of Abram Tertz and Nikolai Arzhak, respectively.

Western newsmen were barred from the trial, but Moscow Radio said Sinyavsky and Daniel both pleaded not guilty.

The report of the trial by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, indicated that their conviction was a certainty. They could be sentenced to seven years in prison and five years exile to Siberia.

Milwaukee Awarded Blight Control Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Urban Renewal Administration announced grants Wednesday for these projects:

Milwaukee, $13,377 to help finance the cost of tearing down abandoned buildings in an area bounded by Burleigh Street, North 35th Street, West Highland Avenue, and the Milwaukee River. The grant will be supplemented by $3,703 in local funds.

Threaten Strike After Rioting in Santo Domingo

Seven Persons Die In Disturbances in Dominican Republic

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Labor leaders and left-wing extremists threatened a general strike today after seven persons were killed and at least 22 injured in day-long rioting in Santo Domingo.

Leftist labor and political leaders charged the police with brutality in the violence touched off by a Communist-led student demonstration Wednesday. They also renewed demands for the quick removal from the country of armed forces leaders who have failed to obey a presidential order assigning them to diplomatic jobs abroad

The two leading moderate leftist parties, the Revolutionary Social Christians and Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party were expected to support a strike. Three previous calls for a general strike collapsed because the two parties failed to support it.

Official sources expressed concern that a successful strike would torpedo negotiations now under way between President Hector Garcia-Godoy and the armed forces leaders on conditions for their departure. No agreement had been reached by Wednesday night, the sources said.

Garcia-Godoy ordered top rebel military leaders and three of the four top men in the armed forces out of the country on Jan.

Mansfield Says Bill Will be Put Aside for Remainder of '66 Session

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate declined again today to choke off the filibuster against the union shop bill and thus apparently killed the measure for this Congress

On Tuesday the senate had rejected cloture by a 51-48 tally, 15 less than the required two-thirds.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that with his failure on the second test he was putting aside the bitterly disputed legislation for the remainder of the 1966 session

He said it would remain on the senate calendar but "with the words R I P. (rest in peace) beside it."

The bill could be called up again later but even its hardiest backers saw little or no chance of success.

House Passed Bill

But Senate Democratic leaders now have tried twice to get the bill up for debate and never have been able even to win a vote on the preliminary motion to consider it.

The Senate outcome represented a defeat for President Johnson and even more for the AFL-CIO, which had placed the repealer at the top of its legislative program. The 14B section permits states to ban labor contracts which require all covered workers to join the union or at least pay dues.

Led by Dirksen

Mansfield first sought to get consideration for the measure last October after it had won 221-203 approval from the House.

But then, as now, a tightly knit filibuster prevented even a vote on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Both filibusters were directed by Republican Leader Everett M Dirksen of Illinois and joined by most Republicans and some Southern Democrats.

Senate Okays Permanent Veteran Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent back to the House today the "cold war GI bill" establishing a permanent program of education and other benefits for veterans who serve more than six months. The vote was 99-0.

The Senate accepted nearly all changes made by the House in a senate measure first passed last July.

The chief effect of the changes was to cut back somewhat the education allowances of the Senate version

However, the Senate made one change which required that the bill go back to the House.

It was an amendment designed to make it clear that veterans who have not graduated from high school would be eligible for the monthly education payments. The House was expected to agree to this change promptly and send the bill to President Johnson.

Chicago Blaze Kills Three Youngsters

CHICAGO (AP)—Three young children, one celebrating his birthday, were killed Wednesday night in a fire touched off by a short circuit.

The victims were Robert Conway Jr., 4; and his stepbrothers, Jeffrey DeCamp, 3, and Billy DeCamp, 16 months.

Jeffrey's third birthday was Wednesday.

Fire Chief James Conte said the fire was caused by a short circuit in a wire running under Billy's crib in a rear bedroom. The infant was burned to death and the other youths suffocated in a front bedroom of the four-room basement apartment, Conte said.

Conte said Mrs. Arlene Conway was visiting her husband, Robert, in the Hines Veterans Hospital, where he is a patient

Maine Legislature Hopes to Abolish No Smoking Rule

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Maine may soon free its women legislators of the duty of lighting the smoking lamps

A committee of the State House of Representatives has proposed that the House scrap the daily ritual that permits smoking during the sessions

House Rule 25, instituted two years ago apparently as a courtesy to the ladies, prohibits smoking

So, by tradition, a woman member rises at the beginning of each session and moves for suspension of the rule

Applause follows, the motion is passed, and the smokers light up

Nonmilitary U. S. Projects

Humphrey Arrives in Saigon To Study Possible Programs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Saigon today to spur the South Vietnamese to get on with a social and economic revolution which he said would provide a "dynamic and lasting answer to the false promise of communism."

"I have come to see some of the projects being undertaken and to report back to the President and the American people on the work you are doing and on the part we can play in support of your great undertaking," Humphrey said in a statement at Saigon's heavily guarded Tan Son Nhut Airport.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu flew with Humphrey from Honolulu after meeting there with President Johnson. Humphrey did not attend the Honolulu conference, but came here on the President's request to advance the nonmilitary programs outlined there.

Social Programs

Humphrey told newsmen aboard his plane that the military situation in South Viet Nam had improved to a point "that rural construction, economic and social programs can take place."

"We know that victories on the battlefield are not enough," he said. "We want to consolidate those victories" with economic and social progress

A big crowd of Vietnamese military and civilian dignitaries greeted the vice president and 150mm howitzers and five tanks were lined up on the air strip opposite a Vietnamese honor guard.

Heavy security was in effect and the normally busy airport was closed to civilian traffic for more than an hour before Humphrey's plane landed. Roadblocks and checkpoints were thrown up around the field

During his flight of nearly 15 hours from Honolulu, broken only by a 90-minute fuel stop on Guam, Humphrey received a stream of specialists in his cabin.

He told newsmen he was getting briefings on aid, health, information and other U.S. programs on the plane so that he can make full use of his time seeing things for himself

For security reasons, Ameri-

Committee Hearing

Former U. S. Official Advises Ending War

WASHINGTON (AP)—George F Kennan, a former State Department strategist on cold war, told senators investigating U S Asian policy today the administration should "liquidate" military involvement in Viet Nam just as soon as this can be done

Kennan, a former ambassador to Moscow, said this should take place as soon as it can be done "without inordinate damage to our own prestige or to the stability in conditions in that area."

But Kennan cautioned in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that precipitate and disorderly withdrawal could represent in our present circumstances a disservice to our own interests and even to world peace greater than any that might have been involved in our failure to engage ourselves in the first place

Grave Misgivings

On the other hand Kennan said he has "grave misgivings about any deliberate expansion of hostilities on our part directed to achievement of something called victory."

Kennan is the latest witness to be summoned before the committee in pursuit of its stated aim to clarify confusion and apprehension about the U S policy in Viet Nam and in Asia generally

From 1947 to 1949 Kennan was chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Committee. He is widely regarded as the father of the containment policy

In advance of his appearance before the committee today two Democratic senators said attacks on President Johnson's Southeast Asia policies are encouraging the Communists to continue the Viet Nam War.

Hanoi Encouraged

Sen. Edmund S Muskie, D-Maine, said he is convinced that what is keeping North Viet Nam from the negotiations table "is the conviction that we'll tire and quit." He said this belief is being bolstered by senatorial criticism of the President's actions and objectives

Show Business Giants

Sophie Tucker, Billy Rose Die

NEW YORK (AP) — Death has come to two of the best-known entertainers from a bygone era, master showman Billy Rose and Sophie Tucker, "last of the red-hot mamas."

The two show business giants, whose careers were born in the days of vaudeville, died of illnesses within hours of each other.

After 2 years on belting out songs, big, brassy-voiced Miss Tucker, 78, died Wednesday night in her Park Avenue apartment of a chronic lung ailment and kidney failure.

Rose, millionaire showman who made his fortune from extravaganza, curvacious girls and the stock market, died at 66 early today in Montego Bay, Jamaica, of lobar pneumonia.

Heart Surgery

He had come to Montego Bay, where he maintains a winter home, to recuperate from heart surgery performed in Houston, Tex., in December.

Rose was an impresario, theatrical producer, newspaper columnist, nightclub owner and writer of such songs as "That Old Gang of Mine" "Without A Song," and "Me and My Shadow."

Rose

Worth more than $25 million at his death, he made his first million three months after his water ballet "Aquacade" became the hit of the 1939 New York World's Fair.

At one time Rose owned 17 nightclubs, including the plush Diamond Horseshoe opened in 1938

It was in such nightclubs and cabarets that a song written by a porter, "Some of These Days," became the trademark of Sophie Tucker.

Every Performance

She belted it out at every performance, whether she was doing the blues, jazz or swing.

Her last appearance was at the Latin Quarter just before she became ill. She had signed for a four-week engagement, but was able to appear only two nights, and on both nights it was clear that she was in poor health.

She spent several weeks at Mount Sinai Hospital for treatment of what her physician described as an intestinal inflammation. She returned to her apartment where she was reported recovering

From the time she was a teenager Sophie had been a performer.

No Regrets

Asked if she had any regrets and if she would have preferred life in the kitchen, she said: "I

Food for Freedom

Johnson Proposes 'War on Hunger'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a food for freedom program to "lead the world in a war against hunger."

Abandoning the idea of supplying only surplus foods, he ordered increased production of some U.S. crops, chiefly rice and soybeans, to help meet overseas needs

He called for a major international effort including increased assistance from the United States and keyed to self-help from the developing countries where hunger is one of the major problems

To help meet world needs, Johnson ordered a 10 per cent increase in the nation's 1966 acreage allotment for rice to meet what he called unprecedented demands brought on by drought and war in Asia

Dairy Products

He authorized the secretary of agriculture to buy limited amounts of dairy products to meet demands at home and abroad, where milk from U. S. farms is made available to millions of poor children.

And he announced that he will take action to increase soybean production in 1966

The President called for increased capital and technical assistance to foreign countries but he emphasized that this aid "must be accompanied by a major effort on the part of those who receive it."

Calling for an end to the idea of providing only surplus foods, he said current farm programs are eliminating the surpluses in our warehouses. Fortunately the same programs are flexible enough to gear our farm production to amounts that can be used constructively."

Even with maximum efforts among the needy nations, Johnson said, "our food aid will be needed for many years to come."

And eventually, he said, as their own economies improve, "increased purchasing power among the hundreds of millions of consumers in developing countries will help them become good customers of the American farmer."

Candace Lived With Nephew, Landlady Says

MIAMI, Fla (AP)—Candace Mossler was said by a state witness today to have moved into an apartment with her nephew, Melvin Land Powers, posing as his fiancee

The witness, Mrs Jerry Dino Thompson testified that she rented them the apartment in Houston in early October 1963 — eight months before the slaying in Miami of Mrs. Mossler's millionaire husband Jacques

Powers and his aunt are on trial charged with Mossler's slaying. The state has called them lovers

Name Thomas W. Dale Housing Section Head

Gov. Knowles Announces Appointment; Says It's Part of Equal Opportunities

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced Wednesday the appointment of Thomas W. Dale, Milwaukee, to head the housing section of the Equal Opportunities division of the State Industrial Commission.

Knowles made the announcement at an executive office press conference.

Thomas W. Dale

Dale will also serve as staff legal counsel. He will have four investigators to look into complaints of discrimination in public sale or rental of housing under the state's new Fair Housing Law.

Dale will be responsible for the interpretation and administration of the provisions of the new ordinance and will recommend rules and procedures to be followed by the division in working with the fair housing statute.

Major Task

His major task will be to render initial decisions on cases of alleged discrimination following investigations by his staff. He will also prepare cases for presentation and represent the commission at public hearings held if staff investigations show probable dicrimination.

Another major part of his new job will be attempting to conciliate differences between parties in cases of alleged discrimination, as is required under the Fair Housing Law.

Dale, a Negro, wrote the highest score on a competitive civil service examination for the job. He is 47 years old, married and the father of three. Twenty-one applicants took the required test. Salary starts at $10,200 a year.

Special Attention

Present at the news conference was Joseph Fagan, chairman of the Industrial Commission. It is unusual for announcements of the appointment of section heads in staff agencies to be made by the governor, Knowles conceded, but both he and Fagan stressed the interest the new law has created throughout the state and the announcement merited special attention.

The pursuit of equal opportunities, fair housing and employment are important goals of his administration, Knowles said.

Sylla, who did not appear in court but was represented by an attorney, had pleaded innocent to the charge.

He was arrested Dec. 31 on County Trunk X between New London and Weyauwega by a county traffic patrolman.

Wayne D. Roberts, 26, Galena, Ill., was fined $116 Tuesday when he admitted the charge in New London Municipal Justice Court.

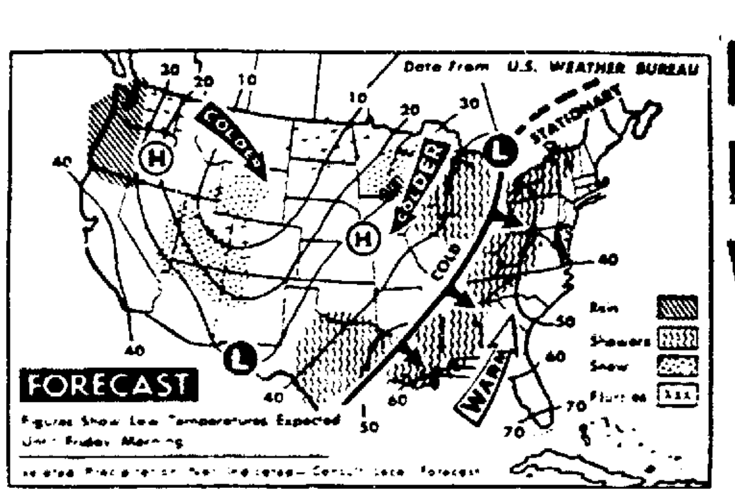
He was ordered to pay $84 for repair of the parking meter.



Scattered Showers and thundershowers will stretch from the Gulf coast to New England tonight with rain in the northwest and snow flurries in the Rockies and Plateau area. SEAMS TO ME

By Patricia Scott

Questions, Answers

Q. I want to make decorative pillows with button tufting on both sides, making them reversible. How should I do it? Mrs. G. S.

A. You'll need heavy thread, such as carpet thread, doubled, and a long darning needle. Tie or sew the thread firmly to the shank of the button. Insert the needle through to the other side of the pillow and through the shank of the other button. Bring the thread back through the pillow under the first button, and draw it tight. Tie the thread ends securely and cut (see illustration).

Pat Scott

Q. From time to time when using my sewing machine, the stitches skip and I hear the needle hit something as it goes down into the bobbin. Can you figure out the trouble? Mrs. F. P.

A. The chances are the needle has been set too low. Be sure to push the needle into the needle clamp as high as it wil go. Even if you do this, the needle will slide down again unless the thumb screw is tightened strongly.

Q. Paterns usually fit me with the exception of the bust darts. Just where should the darts fall? Mrs. V. P.

A. They should point to the fullest part of the bust. The point of the waistline darts should be on a line with the breastpoint and about 1½ inches below it. For underarm darts, the point should be on a line with the breastpoint and about ¾ to 1 inch from it.

Q. Whenever I use bias facings for a sleeveless dress I always end up with puckers and a wavy armhole edge. How can I do this correctly? Miss D. L.

A. Stay-stitch the sleeve edge first. Then baste the bias facing to the edge of the armhole, being sure to ease a bit at the curves. Clip your seam allowance on the curved edge and grade the seams. Turn your facing to the inside of the garment, turn under the raw edge and hem or finish the raw edge.

Parents' World

Return Things to Their Place, But Supervise Child Closely

DEAR DR. JONES: When her husband went overseas to fight a few months ago, my daughter and her two-year-old girl came to live with us. When they first came, my daughter asked me to put all knickknacks out of reach and out of sight of my grandchild. She said it's wrong to keep saying "No, mustn't touch."

But so far, there's no sign of any change about this and I'm tired of seeing my home bare and the closet shelves cluttered. How will a child learn the things she may not touch this way? And when she goes visiting, what's she going to do? She can't tell the people to put away all their things the minute she walks in!

Eve Jones

Your daughter's system isn't sensible for a child this old, although it's an excellent way to deal with this problem with a creeper, crawler, or young toddler just learning to walk and climb.

Perhaps your daughter is having trouble teaching her child respect for property and the rights of others because she feels deserted by her husband, even though she knows he was called away. She may be trying to take care of her daughter the way she wishes she could get the world to take care of her — by letting her have her way completely in a world that's simple and easy to understand.

Help both by returning your knickknacks to their places and then sharing the chore of supervising your grandchild constantly. Don't slap or scold when she touches something you don't want her to touch. Remove her hand, then give her something of her own or one of your things she may touch and tell her she may play with the thing you gave her, not with the other. It shouldn't take a child her age long to learn, so you can count on paying less close attention to her in about a month's time.

Make Your Plays in Right Order

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

When you have two or three plays for your contract, make the right play first. If it fails, you will still be in position for the second play.

South takes the ace of hearts, counting 11 tricks in top cards. He needs an extra trick in clubs or diamonds. The diamond finesse is more likely to succeed but South should try first for the extra club trick.

Opening lead — ♡ J

South draws trumps, discarding a heart from dummy, cashes the queen of hearts and takes the ace and king of clubs. He then discards his last club on dummy's king of hearts and ruffs a club. If each opponent had started with three clubs, dummy's last club would be good and the slam would be home.

The clubs break badly, but South is in position to try for his diamond trick. Since East is out of everything but diamonds, South has a cinch.

Deep Finesse

South leads a diamond, planning to put in dummy's nine if West plays low. East wins with the jack and must then return a diamond to dummy's ace-queen. If West puts up the ten of diamonds, declarer plays the queen from dummy. East wins with the king, but must then return a diamond to dummy's ace-nine. Either way dummy gets a free finesse, and the slam is assured.

After drawing trumps, South would go down if he took the diamond finesse before working on the clubs. East would get out safely with a club, and South would still have to lose a second diamond trick.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell explained the proposed comprehensive plan for the city of Appleton when he talked to the Valley BPW Club Tuesday at a dinner meeting at the Normandie. 'Appleton's New Face' Shown to Valley BPW

Members of the Valley Business and Professional Women's Club were given a look at "Appleton's New Face" Tuesday evening when they met at the Normandie. Tour conductor was Mayor Clarence Mitchell, who explained the proposed comprehensive plan for the city, telling how it came about and what it involves.

The speaker noted that a comprehensive plan often comes about when a community reaches the 100-year mark and begins to take inventory of its downtown and residential areas, deciding it must do something for its future.

The first thing a community notices is the move of downtown merchants to fringe shopping center complexes. A city must revive and recreate to keep its central business district, the mayor said. In order to qualify for state and federal aid, and for urban renewal funds, a city must show an overall plan, including an inventory of land use, zoning and plans for the future. Such a plan must provide for future traffic routing, and, naturally, parking.

A look at the past, inventory of the present, and plan for the future are all essential to a city's continued health and prosperity, he said.

The speaker showed slide projections of the proposed civic center complex, including city hall and-or municipal building, Post Office, library, museum and civic auditorium. He described the proposed plan for college avenue, with the location of the retail core, specialty shops, high rise apartments and service commercial area. He also talked about a high level Oneida Street bridge.

The speaker noted that while the plan is not definite it serves as a guide in the setting up of a realistic program for Appleton's future.

American Business Courts Darling Big Spender—the Teen

With a collective $15 billion a year to spend, the nation's 24 million teen-agers have become the long-haired darlings of businessmen looking for big markets now and more later when the young people begin setting up homes of their own.

From Miami, Fla., to Bellingham, Wash., from Bangor, Maine, to San Diego, Calif., teen-agers dress alike and dance alike.

They also buy alike — with a difference.

Their money doesn't go for rent and taxes, but for snacks, clothes records, cars, cosmetics, dates, movies, contact lenses, guitars, skindiving equipment and a thousand other items.

"Clothes — that's where all my money goes," says Audrey Philps, 17, of Harlingen, Texas.

"I spend money for food primarily," said Alex Kiiros, 16, of Atlanta, a strapping 6-footer. "I also spend it on shooting pool, going to the movies."

Audrey and Alex are two of the scores of teen-agers who were asked in an Associated Press nationwide survey what they do with their money.

Important Answers

Their answers are vital to the growing number of firms regearing production lines and sales efforts to the demands of the youth market.

As Bruce A. Gimbel, New York City department store president, put it, "We no longer keep up with the Joneses, we keep up with the young."

One Fifth Avenue department store — Lord & Taylor — reports its teen-age business had grown 200 per cent in the last 10 years, and a store official adds he expects it to grow another 25 per cent a year for the foreseeable future.

A swank Fifth Avenue store for women — Bergdorf-Goodman — opened a haven for teen-agers this month. Airlines offer them half-rate fares. Auto makers appeal to them with fast-back cars. There are bar mitzvah pilgrimmages to Israel, summer skiing tours of Europe and camps for overweight girls or those worried about their social IQ's — "College will be a ball this fall!"

They Spend

The reasons are obvious.

Teen-aged girls spend $3,525,000,000 a year on clothes and $575 million more on shoes. They plucked the granny dress off the French Riviera and spread it coast to coast last summer, shifting lines throughout the garment industry. Now they are going for granny boots laced up the front — granny purses and granny spectacles.

Teen-agers seized the bright mod fashions from Britain and revolutionized the fashion industry. Mod shops are springing up in the department stores, and for the first time they are importing low and medium-priced clothing from London and Paris. Short-skirted models wearing giant sunglasses Watusi across the stage, and belting combos enliven fashion shows.

Pretty Faces

The girls spend $470 million a year on cosmetics, and sales of men's toiletries are soaring, spurred by young buyers.

One reason: instead of just exchanging pins or rings, young couples now wear the same cologne to become smell-alike steadies.

Teen-agers spend nearly $300 million a year on records, accounting for 80 per cent of the single-record sales. They switched from Elvis Presley to the Beatles and Sonny and Cher, and the record companies followed suit.

Sue Miller, 14, Monterey Park, Calif., spends half of her income on records.

"I have all the Beatle albums and the Rolling Stones," said a 16-year-old girl at Douglas Freeman High School in Richmond. "I have 106 albums and a stack of 45s."

Big Impact

The teen-agers passion for the Beatles reshaped the record industry.

"When the Beatles records hit the United States, they upset all of the selling habits in the country," said Robert Altschuler of Columbia Records.

"Immediately one-third — later 75 per cent — of all large-selling records were coming from England. It decimated American recording groups and individual performers. We had been the exporters, we had dominated the market. It shook up our industry enormously. Now we're trying to absorb the influences the Beatles represent," Altschuler said.

Teen-agers listen to the radio an average of 2½ hours a day, and many walk down the street plugged in. Of the girls, 66.4 per cent own portable transistors.

Nearly half of the teen-agers go to the movies at least once a week. An independent movie maker, American-International Pictures, struck a bonanza with such films as "How to Stuff a Wild Bikini." Now they plan to attract teen-agers with "protest" movies.

Drive or Own

Teen-agers, as nearly every father can confirm, are a boon to the automobile business. Of the girls, 2,241,000 drive and a half million own their own cars. The figures are even higher for boys.

In Tampa, Fla., Jacon L. Miller, 18, bought a '58 model foreign car himself and spends about $10 a week for gas. He says a car is the first and most important purchase for most teen-aged boys.

A Denver automobile dealer says he is hiring several salesmen barely out of high school because "they speak the same jargon teen-agers do."

Teen-agers are likely to have a big influence on their parents' choice of cars and other items, from bacon to television sets.

"I'd been working on daddy for two years for a color TV," said Kathy Hodge, 16, Wichita, Kan. "We got it for Christmas."

'Help' Parents

"Teen-agers affect their parents' buying habits and keep them from buying stupid things," said Julie Jakstaf, 17, of Winnetka, Ill. "Things like stuffed alligators."

Some teen-agers have their own charge accounts.

Bobbie West, 17, Tallahassee, Fla., has three accounts in her own name, but she is an exception.

Parents objected when a firm in Austin, Tex., mailed credit cards to high schoolers.

The Denver Retail Merchants Association said several stores reported efforts to encourage individual charge accounts for high school and college students met with failure: the students preferred to use their parents' accounts.

To The Altar

Nearly half of the girls who will be married this year will be teen-agers. One million girls, like President Johnson's daughter Luci, are engaged.

Teen-agers have replaced farmers as the economic backbone of the nation, Helen Nelson, California's consumer counsel, reports.

"It is a sobering thought to consider that the consumer market may be dominated by inexperienced family units," she said, issuing a booklet of advice.

Cheryl Trapp, 18, Tampa, Fla., used to work part time and spend 95 per cent of her money on clothes. Now she is helping put her husband through the University of South Florida.

At Westport High in Kansas City, Tom Wray, 17, is the father of a 3-month-old baby. His wife, 18, used to work, but now is home.

Wray attends high school three hours in the morning and works 60 hours a week parking cars. He earns $70 a week.

They Save

"Every week I give my wife $50 for the rent, food and everything," he said. "The rest is mine. I spend most of it on my car. My wife is a good manager, and she knows how to budget what I bring home. We've always got money left over."

One business that doesn't have to fight for the business of teen-agers is the telephone company.

"I spend $30 a month on long distance calls to my girl friend back East," said Michael Klein, 18, Beverly Hills, Calif.

A Lovelier You

Fashion Fabrics

Fashion designers are motivated to an enormous degree by fabric. A new texture inspires new silhouettes or fresh looks for familiar shapes.

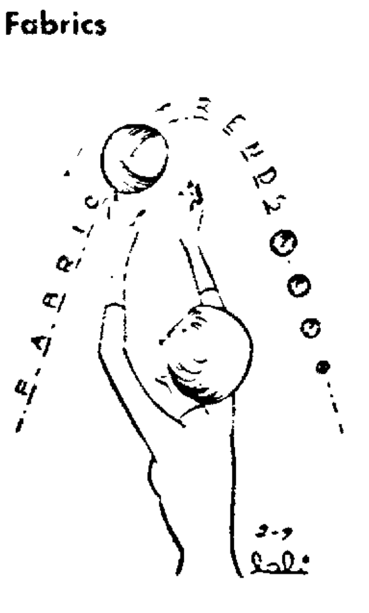
Spring's sleek little suit, with its short jacket and A-line skirt, stems from the subtle, dry surface of new woolens. Owing to the airy, luxurious hand of silky materials, the lean dress we love so well has new flow and air.

From the wearer's viewpoint, fabric also influences the fashion life of a garment. A perfectly wearable coat, for example, can become a skeleton in your closet if its fabric is out of step with the times. Worn today, the shaggy coatings of yesteryear look as dated as high-button shoes.

Obviously there is wisdom in assessing the fashion merit of a garment's fabric before making a purchase. Is it on the upswing or the downgrade? Focusing on silhouettes and colors, too few shoppers consider the point.

Fabric trends, like a ball in slow motion, do rise and fall. The trick is to catch a trend on the upswing, for then it has a long way to go before it's outmoded. To spot prophetic trends watch these fabrics.

Classic wools and patterns—twills, gabardines, jersey, coverts, tattersalls, checks, stripes . . . lacy weaves in tweeds and knits . . . crepes and silky materials in light, billowy weights . . . prints, from tiny granny florals to wild abstracts.



In all there's a material gain. Why not collect?

Medical Assistants Have State Conclave

The seventh annual education symposium of the Wisconsin State Medical Assistants Society took place Feb. 3 at the State Medical Society Building, Madison.

The group was welcomed by state president, Miss Alice L. Roelse, Port Washington, Mrs. Warren Knowles and David C. Reynolds, both of Madison.

The morning speaker, Sister M. Alexius Wagner, Edgewood College, Madison, spoke on "The Importance of You — The Medical Assistant." A group workshop and discussion session completed the morning meetings.

In the afternoon, the group heard Mrs. Elvera Fischer, Chicago, Ill., president-elect of the American Association of Medical Assistants; William Hansen, Clintonville, and Oscar Gaardner, Madison.

Attending from the Outagamie County chapter were Mrs. William Albrecht, Mrs. Eric Erdman, Miss Imogene Koehn, Mrs. Leo Koffarnus, Mrs. George Mills, Mrs. Edward Ramer, Miss Nancy Rueden, Miss Dawn Schultz, Miss Donna Schultz and Mrs. Wesley Smith.

Poor Grades May be Due To a Physical Problem

Is your child having trouble keeping his grades in school this year?

There may be a physical reason for his poor record, says the magazine of the American Medical Association.

Does the child squint, strain, rub his eyes or complain that they hurt, water or itch? Does he hold his book very close to his face when he reads? Has it been a long time since his last eye test? He may have defective vision. He may not be able to read the teacher's notes on the blackboard.

Possible Hearing Loss

Does he often ask you to repeat a question or statement? (That may have nothing to do with hearing, of course. Many of our children know we will say something a second, third or fourth time. We often encourage the habit of not listening.) Does he sometimes miss — or seem to miss — a point made in a movie or on television by the spoken word? Does he turn his head to one side as he listens? He may have defective hearing. It might even be as simple as impacted wax in the ears, which can be removed by your physician in a simple office procedure.

Watch Nourishment

Has he had an infection, disease or accident whose effects may be lingering on? Is there a possibility (as far-fetched as it may seem to you at first) that poor nutrition may be holding him back, limiting his enthusiasms, interests and capabilities? He may be eating a considerable quantity of food, but still be undernourished, if he eats improperly, or if his tastes in food are too limited.

If your child isn't performing properly in his school work, ask yourself whether it is time for an examination to determine whether his problems are caused by a physical condition that might be corrected.

Speaker Tells Hadassah Of 'Outcasts of Israel'

Peter Rabinovitz, a Lawrence University student who recently returned from his second trip to Israel, spoke on "Outcasts of Israel or Communal Tensions in the Jewish State" when the Appleton Chapter of Hadassah met Tuesday afternoon at the Moses Montifiore Social Center. Brotherhood was the meeting theme.

The speaker pointed out that Jewish people come to Israel from over 100 lands, speaking 80 languages. The wide range of differences between the Jews of European countries and Eastern countries was pointed up. The European Jews dominate social-[illegible] The Oriental [illegible]

E. R. McPhee, Mrs. Matson To be Married

MADISON (AP) — Announcement of the approaching marriage of Eugene R. McPhee, director of Wisconsin State universities, and Mrs. Roy L. Matson was made Wednesday. Mrs. Matson is the widow of the former editor of the Wisconsin State Journal of Madison. McPhee is a widower.

They will be married in a private ceremony later this month in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Madison. A wedding trip to Jamaica is planned.

Just about now, overcoat collars can stand a going-over with a cloth dampened in cleaning fluid — or at least a good brushing. This will help keep shirt collars cleaner.

Girls Forget They're Girls, Says Elder

Girls don't know how to be girls anymore, says a grandpa, and that's the whole reason boys aren't boys anymore.

No rocking chair Confucious, he. This grandpa has been casing courtships, he says. Only they aren't courtships anymore. He calls them pairing-off partnerships.

If you think your shining knight is the answer to your dreams, put him to the test, suggests grandpa. There are advantages to being a woman and you should enjoy the bounty. Trouble is, some girls don't know what they're supposed to expect, he says, so he asks:

Have you ever had a boy: hold an umbrella over your head, surprise you with an unexpected gift, tell you he won't get married until he can support a wife, carry your packages, or write you a real love letter?

What to Expect

Grandpa says: Does a boy send you flowers on your birthday, open the car door for you, tip his hat when he meets you, say "yes ma'am" and "no sir" to your parents, and worry about getting you home at the witching hour?

Oldsters say gentlemen should: hold your coat while you put it on, apologize for using a swear-word, brag about your cooking, ask for your photograph, and offer his gloves on a cold day without complaining that you've left yours at home.

Asks for Kiss

It's nice to have a boy compare you favorably to a popular beauty, ask permission to kiss you, help you wash the dishes after he's eaten a meal at your house, and refuse to borrow money when needed unless pressed on him.

Well that's the way it used to be, says grandpa. And "boys liked it just the same as girls," he says. "it brought out the man in them."

Committee Members for the St. Pius X Home School Association style show have been busy preparing colorful spring centerpieces and decorations for the Wednesday evening event. Adding perky flowers and net to the bases are Mrs. Clement Sullivan, Mrs. Sylvester Bayer, Mrs. Donald Page, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. James Green. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Vows Said In Double Ring Rite

Miss Jeanine Zimmerman, 117 N. Mason St., and Ralph R. Netzel exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m. Jan. 29 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Bear Creek. The Rev. Carl Ehrfurth officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. David Fletcher, Bear Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Netzel, route 1, Marion. The bride's uncle, Otto Beyer, escorted her to the altar.

Shoe Trouble?

Before blaming discomfort on a pair of new shoes, check to see if corns, callouses, etc., aren't causing the trouble. Too often, well-fitting and comfortable shoes are indicted unjustly.

Your Problems

Hosts Impose on Guests by Soliciting for Their Piggy Bank

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A couple we know has a three-year-old child. They keep the child's piggy bank in the living room on the coffee table. Whenever they entertain the conversation somehow gets turned to the piggy bank.

The parents tell how much was in the bank when they last opened it and who gave what. They save for different "projects" and open the bank when it gets so full they can't put any more money in.

Right now they are saving for a dance costume. We got all the details last night. My husband put in 50 cents "to help the cause." I don't care about the 50 cents but I think it's poor taste to put geusts on the spot. My husband says I'm small-minded. Am I? — Modern Math

Dear Modern: You can call it a piggy bank if you want to. I call it a collection box — and the living room is no place for it. I'm with you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday I received an anonymous message in the mail. It read: "Dear Friend. I ran across this bright saying and thought of your husband: 'If at first you do succeed, chances are good that it's your father's business.'"

My husband happens to be in his father's business. It is a large company and a successful one. My husband started at the bottom and has earned the position he now holds. Under his leadership the business has expanded and flourished.

What outsiders don't know about the problems of a family business could fill a library. The pressures are terrific. My husband works harder than anyone I know. It burns me up when people intimate that he was born successful and sits back and rakes in the money.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, Ann. I feel better already. — Also Anonymous

Dear Also: It is unfair to assume that every man who is in a family business has had success dropped in his lap. Many bright, hard-working men in family businesses could have made it big somewhere else — and some of them wish they had. The emotional problems which result from relatives being in business together can be devastating.

Anonymous messages are the handiwork of cowardly malcontents. Forget it.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband was never one for hobbies until six months ago. At the age of 55 he suddenly decided to take up the cello.

I don't even care for good cello music so you can imagine what I endure when he screeches away two or three hours a day. Alex is teaching himself with the help of some books. He didn't even know he was supposed to put resin on the bow un'stil I told him.

Our children all studied music when they were young and their practicing never bothered me the way this does. Please tell me what to do. I'm getting nervous. — L.C.

Dear L.C.: Don't complain because your 55-year-old husband is fiddling around. At least Alex has a cello.

Fix up a practice nook for him in the attic, the basement or even the garage. And buy a transistor radio to carry with you as you do your housework. It will help drown out the racket—I mean music.

The Ailing House

Top Quality Paint Best

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: The paint on our aluminum siding seems to be wearing off in a powdery fashion. We've only had this house two years. What paint should I use for repainting?

A: Give the house a good scrubbing and rinsing, to get all the powdering paint off. Then put on any top quality type of house paint.

* * *

Q: Will gas heaters eat away the mortar between chimney bricks? Will a flue lining prevent this?

A: The gas itself won't have any such effect, but sometimes the residue which condenses from gases can drip back down the chimney, or work through the masonry and cause staining. A flue lining, of tile or stainless steel, will prevent any such troubles. It will also assure safe draft, even though the chimney masonry begins to weaken.

* * *

Q: In our new home, the basement is pretty much the recreation room. The concrete is constantly giving off dust, even though my wife sweep every single day. Is there any sealer? Can it be painted? Or should we put down vinyl tile?

A: Several good concrete flo sealers are available at hardware stores and lumber yards. All of them can be painted; you can also put down vinyl or asphalt tiles down over them. One type is prepared as a sealer-finish, containing silicones and offered in several colors, so it's its own finish. Most hardware, paint stores or masonry supplies dealers know these products and can supply them if not already stocked.

Q: What is the best type of wallpaper to put on a bathroom?

A: Use only the waterproof type. This takes in several types, including the plastic-surface variety, with its own adhesive already on the back, which sticks on contact. If you are going to stick it on yourself, and the paper you've chosen is the type where you apply the paste, be sure you have a waterproof adhesive. Without waterproofness, paper won't stay on very long. Steam from hot showers or baths, along with a generally damp atmosphere, makes it mandatory to have a covering which is waterproof.

Sheriff, Traffic Personnel To Employ Bargaining Agent

Majority of 2 Outagamie Units Sign Pact for Representative

A majority of Outagamie County sheriff and traffice department personnel have signed an agreement to employ a bargaining agent to represent them in dealings with the county.

The action came at a noon meeting Wednesday attended by James W. Miller, Green Bay, representative of District 4, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employes, and county employes, many of whom are attempting to form a courthouse union.

Miller will be retained as the bargaining agent, but as a "private individual, and not as a union representative."

Head of Group

Joseph VandenOever, sheriff's department lieutenant and recently elected temporary president of a group seeking a courthouse union charter, said Wednesday's action did not constitute formation of a union in the law enforcement units.

"It is simply a step to secure a bargaining agent to represent only sheriff's and traffic people," VandenOever explained. It does not mean the same employes would not seek membership in a courthouse union, he said.

A meeting of sheriff and traffic employes will be held soon for the purpose of formally voting on retaining Miller as bargaining agent.

Permitted by Law

Wednesday's action is in line with provisions in Wisconsin Statutes which permit county employes to retain a person to represent them for bargaining relative to wages, hours and working conditions, VandenOever said.

Members of the county board's executive committee Monday told Miller that the county would not recognize a courthouse union now. The denial means the future of a union apparently will be decided through balloting by county employes.

Indications are the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) will be petitioned soon to conduct an election.

Group Formed To Nominate New Provosts

University Campus Committee Headed By L. H. Adolfson

Members of a committee which will interview and recommend candidates for the posts of provost of the two new campuses of the University of Wisconsin were announced this week.

The four-year campuses will be located in northeastern and southeastern Wisconsin. Exact locations of the two campuses will be determined later this month.

The committee will be headed by L. H. Adolfson, chancellor of the university-center system, of which the new campuses will be a part.

Seek Candidates

Adolfson told The Post-Crescent today the committee will seek qualified candidates both within the university system and outside. He said the administrative deans at the Madison and Milwaukee campuses as well as administrative deans at universities and colleges throughout the nation will be asked to recommend individuals.

Adolfson added that the Center deans have already been asked for their suggestions.

Thilmany Co. Sales Top $44 Million

Represent 10 Per Cent Gain; Net Earnings Are $3,535,775

KAUKAUNA—Thilmany Pulp & Paper Co. reported a record net sales in 1965 of $44,187,705 at the firm's annual stockholders meeting today. It represents a 10 per cent gain over 1964. Net earnings of $3,535,775 and shipments of 144,847 tons were reported.

Major Improvements

"The year 1965 saw any number of new records set by business; however, the paper industry did not fare as well as manufacturing in general," said C. L. Dostal, president. "Substantial investments were required in new productive facilities to help set these new records. In Thilmany's case the major improvements in 1965 were made in the pulp mill, planning for future growth."

Dostal expressed concern about higher costs facing the company in 1966. Thilmany operated at close to peak capacity last year and must plan substantial capital investments in the next few years for additional growth. In 1966, this includes a new high pressure boiler and topping turbine, to provide steam and power for future expansion.

83 Years

Thilmany, which was founded in the Fox River Valley 83 years ago, manufactures industrial and specialty packing papers. The firm has sales offices in New Jersey, for the New York and Philadelphia markets; Chicago; Cleveland; Cincinnati and Kansas City. Kaukauna is its home office.

Jaycees Plan To Renovate Welcome Sign

"Self the Safety Elf", a sign placed at the city limits on S. Memorial Drive eight years ago by the Appleton Jaycees, may be renovated.

The "Welcome to Appleton" sign was discussed at the monthly meeting of the Jaycees board of directors.

Reports on projects sponsored by the group, including Civic Celebration, Soap Box Derby and the Miss Appleton Pageant, were given. The "Speak Up" program is set for Feb. 15 at the Elks Club.

Paul Leach was appointed to the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Robert Kiersey. Jerry Long was named to the advisory board of Rawhide, Inc.

Propose Laymen to Study Laws

The president of the Wisconsin State Bar Association called for a "layman-type sounding board" to discuss new laws and public reaction to them at a meeting of the Outagamie County Bar Association Wednesday.

Don O'Melia, Rhinelander, also came out in favor of Judicare. "If we don't take our own responsibilities, this work will be taken over by others," he said. He added that it was the only possible way to avoid governmental control.

He spoke of the formation of the young attorneys' committee to assist the younger members of the bar association.

O'Melia was introduced by Gordon A. Bubolz, Outagamie County Bar Association president. Guests at the meeting included members of bar associations from Winnebago, Calumet, Waupaca and Shawano counties.

St. Joseph CYO to Offer 3-Act Comedy

"Jenny Kissed Me," a three-act comedy by Jean Kerr, will be publicly presented at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in connection with St. Valentine's Day, by St. Joseph Catholic Youth Organization in the parish hall.

The story revolves around a country girl who comes to live in a rectory and in the process falling in love, gives her guardian-minister a lesson in modern living.

Kenosha Man Jailed For Non-Support

Levi Lincoln, 27, Kenosha, Wednesday afternoon was sentenced to three months in jail after he pleaded guilty of failing to support his wife, Ruth, and two children.

Lincoln, who appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, failed to support his wife and children, ages 2 and 3, from April 1, 1965 to Feb. 2, the court was told.

Lucey to Address Outagamie Democrats

Lieutenant Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, unannounced contender for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, will address the Outagamie County Democratic Party at 8 p.m. today in the civic room at the First National Bank, Appleton.

The Post-Crescent Wednesday erroneously reported Lucey would address the group at the Outagamie County Bank.

City Crews Test Pumps

Flood Complaints Backfire

Some Appleton residents complaining about the weather and related basement flooding may wind up with a guilt complex.

Chemical tests being run by city crews are causing many who have been seeing red to blush same.

It seems tests are disclosing in many instances that sump pumps are connected to municipal sanitary sewers in violation of city ordinances.

Admittedly, locating the "culprits" isn't solving the basement flooding problem but does help to pinpoint it.

As the mild weather continues, so does the thaw and subsequent buildup of surface water which represents the No. 1 basement flooding nemesis — unless there are illegal cross connection.

Chemical Test

One of the first things public works department troubleshooters do when arriving at the home or business establishment of a complainant is to put a teaspoonful of chemical into a sink or other drain facility.

A few minutes later the dye shows up outside the building in city mains. It can then be ascertained whether the water is going into a sanitary or storm sewer and from whence it came.

The effective powder chemicals being used by the city to do the tracing are potassium permanganate and fluorescein dye which make the discharged water turn a purple and green color, respectively.

However, there have been many residents with legitimate complaints arising out of the unseasonable weather.

Frost oozing from the ground and streets has created potholes in the streets and at some railroad crossings — resulting in a rash of tire punctures.

Five motorists had blowouts at the College Aveneue railroad crossing which has a series of small craters. The police department is reportedly telling the motorists to file claims with the railroad.

In instances in which motorists are ruining tires and damaging the front end wheel alignment of their vehicles, claims go to the common council and are then referred to the city attorney and the city's insurance carrier.

Public Works Director Robert W. Bues said six street-patching crews have been working day and night filling in the potholes, but when the rain falls they are fighting a losing battle.

"This is a bad time of the year for patching streets," Bues said "You can patch a hole but it doesn't last long in this kind of weather."

There are tentative plans for a city-wide street resurfacing program this spring — after the rains go.

Attorneys From Five counties attended a meeting of the Outagamie County Bar Association Wednesday night at the Terrace Motor Inn at which Don O'Melia, Rhinelander, president of the Wisconsin State Bar Association, spoke. Among those present, from left, were Gerald Engeldinger, president-elect of the Winnebago County group; Miss Ruth Weber, Outagamie group secretary; O'Melia; Gordon Bubolz, president of the Outagamie County association, and Steve Beyer, New London, of the Waupaca County Bar Association. Battered by Weather, Age

City Hall Chimney To be Torn Down

Battered by weather and age, the 25-foot chimney was ordered torn down today by city officials.

Two cars were damaged and holes ripped in the city hall roof Monday morning when huge chunks of facebrick came tumbling down on the municipal parking lot.

Inspect Chimney

Berg & Henn, Inc. was contracted by the city to inspect the chimney and make necessary repairs. The firm moved a 25-ton crane with a 90-foot boom next to the building Wednesday.

This morning, Public Works Director Robert W. Bues, Director of Inspections Charles Magnette, Vince Berg and Herman Westphal were hoisted to the rooftop of the city hall building.

They viewed the disabled chimney from an old truck body which the Berg & Henn firm attached to the crane as a lift.

Poor Shape

"The entire chimney is in poor shape and it will be best to tear it down," Bues said. He indicated a serious safety factor was also involved.

The city hall parking lot will continue to be barricaded until the chimney has been removed from the roof. The stone will be chipped off into the truck body and then lowered to the ground and hauled away.

Bues said a cone-shaped metal stack will be installed to take the place of the chimney.

Prange Workers Set Union Election March 3

A union representation election has been scheduled for March 3 at the Appleton H. C. Prange Co., for truck drivers and warehouse dockmen.

Teamsters Local 563 recently petitioned the national Labor Relations Board (NLRB) for the election and notified company officials it had conducted a membership drive.

The drivers and dockmen will vote whether they want Local 563 to represent them, or have no union.

Rep. Ancher Nelsen (R.-Minn.) will speak at the Outagamie County Republican Lincoln Day celebration Friday night at Reetz's Supper Club. Nelsen has served in Congress since 1958. Friday's program opens with a 6 p.m. reception, followed by dinner, program and dance.

City's Hopes Slim for Pollution Study Aid

Appleton Seeks Funds For Study

Chances are slim that Appleton can qualify for a federal grant to conduct an extensive air pollution study, city officials learned at Chicago this week.

However, a regional air control agency would increase the possibilities of receiving federal aid, U.S. Public Health Service officials told the local delegation.

Meeting with U.S. health officials at the Midwest regional office were Mayor Clarence Mitchell, Deputy Health Officer Donald Day and Sanitarian William Moldenhauer.

Letters Go Unanswered

The group went to Chicago after Day recently informed the board of health that two letters sent the federal agency inquiring about a federal grant went unanswered.

"Federal officials told us they didn't think Appleton had a health problem as result of air pollution," Mitchell said today. However, it was conceded there are some parts of the city where there is an odor problem caused by manufacturing plants.

This was disclosed several months ago in an air-testing program carried out by the health department.

City officials eventually hope to be able to conduct a thorough survey which will help pinpoint problems and enable the common council to prepare an air pollution ordinance.

Advocates Ordinance

Ald. John Ayers (12th), who has advocated such an ordinance, says it must be reasonable but effective. He has leaned toward a regional air pollution control agency and the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission staff has been studying the matter.

Vernon Hansen of the U.S. Health Service told Appleton officials applications from municipalities for federal grants are judged on a nationwide competition. It was felt Appleton would not be able to meet the stiff federal criteria at this time.

Regional Program

Should several communities band together on a regional air pollution program, application for federal aid would have to be submitted soon. Hanson said grants to regional control agencies will be authorized this fall—providing they qualify.

In the meantime, Mayor Mitchell said it was decided to have the health department continue with the air study now in progress.

Booby Trap Failed

Neenah Marine Owes His Life to Jungle Rot

NEENAH — Jungle rot has been cursed by almost everyone who has seen his boots, clothes and tents destroyed by tropical heat and dampness of the Viet Nam jungles.

But, to Marine Lance Cpl. William W. Webber, Neenah, jungle rot is a blessing.

He owes his life to it.

Cpl. Webber was maintaining a radio watch during a search and clear mission by the Headquarters and Service Company of the 2nd Battalion, Ninth Marine Regiment of the Third Marine Division near Da Nang, Viet Nam.

He got up from his radio watch to take a break, stretched and plunged feet first into a hole booby-trapped with a 105 mm howitzer shell.

Yelled Warning

Webber felt a snap under his feet. He instinctively rolled into a ball and yelled out a warning, "Mine!"

There was no explosion.

He climbed from the hole and looked back at what his feet had struck.

"It's a miracle, it's just a miracle," his mother, Mrs. William Webber of 219 Fifth St., said this morning, her voice quivering with emotion.

St. Christopher Medal

She had not known of the incident until called today by the newspaper.

He believes in St. Christopher. He always wears his St. Christopher medal," she sobbed. "It certainly meant St. Christopher was with him that day."

Cpl. Webber has been in the Marines two years. He was shipped to Viet Nam Aug. 1, 1965, for a one-year duty tour.

News of the incident was reported in the Asian Stars and Stripes.

Residents Reminded To Register

City Clerk Eldon Broehm issued a reminder today that unless Appleton residents are properly registered they will not be able to vote in the city's March 8 primary election. It will be Appleton's first primary in 30 years.

At the same time, Broehm announced his office would have special registration hours Feb. 18 and 19.

However, anyone who is not registered may do so now anytime between 8 a.m. and noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, in the clerk's office at city hall.

The deadline for registering for the primary is Feb. 23.

Requirements for registering are Wisconsin residency for one year, Appleton residency for 10 days, and 21 years of age on or before the date of the primary.

Broehm reminded that persons who have failed to vote for the past two years must re-register.

Name and address changes must also be reported to the clerk's office.

Youth Charged With Burglary

Michael T. Slomski, Appleton, to Stand Trial on 4 Counts

Michael Thomas Slomski, 18, 1651 Midway Road, Menasha, was charged Wednesday afternoon with four counts of burglary in connection with alleged entries into three business places and the Appleton Vocational School Friday night and early Saturday.

Slomski, accompanied by his parents, appeared before County Judge Gustave J. Keller who continued the case to 2 p.m. Friday to allow the youth time to retain an attorney. Judge Keller set bond at $2,000. No plea was entered.

A 16-year-old Appleton youth, alleged to be Slomski's accomplice, has been referred to juvenile authorities.

Slomski was charged following questioning Tuesday by Appleton detectives who investigated burglaries at the Vocational School, where two flashlights were taken from the automobile repair shop, the office of Dr. Ralph Landis, 120 S. Oneida St., where an unsuccessful attempt was made to enter a safe and where ink was poured on carpeting and equipment; Riverview Country Club were 38 bottles of liquor and a hand cart were taken, and Koehnke's Barber Sop, 908 S. Oneida St., where $3.50 was missing from a cash register.

Stevens Point Pair Injured in Accident

OSHKOSH — Two Stevens Point persons, one believed to be seriously injured, were taken to Mercy Hospital in a Fremont ambulance as a result of a one-car accident on State 10 near the Winnebago-Waupaca county line at 10:56 a.m. today.

The Winnebago County Sheriff's office had no further information at noon today.

Firemen Clear Smoke From Appleton Home

Four units from the Appleton Fire Department were sent to the home of Mrs. Gladys Treviranus, 1422 W. Summer St., at 2:52 p.m. Wednesday when smoke was reported in the basement.

Firemen found that the smoke was coming from oil that was leaking from a flooded furnace. A smoke ejector was used.

At 9:28 a.m. today, firemen were called to handle a chimney fire at the James LaRock home, 208 E. Calumet St.

CESA 8 Board Hikes Teacher Pay Schedule

Beginning Salary Scale Set at $5,880-6,200; Higher for Work in More Than One District

A salary schedule for teachers who will be hired for the 1966-67 school year by Cooperative Educational Service Agency CESA 8 was adopted Wednesday by the board of control.

Under this plan a beginning teacher can start at a salary from $5,880 to $6,200. About $600 has been added to the scale for teachers who have extra responsibility of teaching in two districts, $800 for three districts and $1,000 for four districts.

Raises for those with master's degrees and master's degrees plus 12 credits are $325 per year, according to the policy committee's outline.

Teacher Shortages

The schedule includes a 10-month contract which will permit involvement in pre-school workshops and follow-up services at the end of the year.

"The scale might seem a little steep," Harland Kirchner, chairman of the committee, said, "but we had to take into consideration that there are extreme teacher shortages in the areas involved." He also noted the teachers would have to travel considerably to serve their district schools.

Members of the policy committee are Kirchner, Clintonville, Mrs. Gordon Wentzel, Winneconne, Fred Bernegger, New London; and Dr. Elvin Prather, Maawa.

According to Kenneth Poppy, coordinator, two remedial reading teachers, a nurse and a school curriculum coordinator will be needed for the coming school year.

Holes, Cracks a Problem, Wardens Say

Lake Ice Good but Caution Advised

Ice fishermen, perplexed early in the season by thawing, warm weather and weakened ice on Lake Winnebago have been dealt another setback by the weatherman, but the situation is not as critical as some reports have indicated.

Heavy rains in the last two days have resulted in some problems on the "big lake" one of the areas most popular winter angling spots.

Proceed With Caution

Fishery manager Dick Harris, of Oshkosh, offered what is probably the soundest advice available this morning, Harris said.

"The ice is still thick, anyone going out should proceed with caution. Do not fear the lake, but have a good respect for it."

Harris urged that anyone going out to fish (and there were a good number of anglers driving out this morning, Harris noted) should be careful and particularly watch for holes worn larger. The regular fishing holes can damage the wheels of a car and the open sturgeon holes are a major problem. Caution is the byword.

One of the most critical spots is the Brighton Beach section on the Menasha shore. There is a stronger than normal current in the area and Harris said he checked one sturgeon shanty Sunday which had only nine inches of ice under it.

Along the east shore, conditions have been termed "good" by conservation department authorities and the "lake people."

Kieth Reichenbach, conservation warden, said that given one reasonably cold day, the lake will be in the best condition of the winter for vehicle travel. "The ice is good," he said, but echoed Harris' advice on holes and cracks.

He advised shanty owners to get out on the lake as soon as possible to move their shanties onto dry ice if they are now situated in water. "Shanties must be removed from the lake soon after the sturgeon season, and chopping one loose that is frozen in is no easy task," he said.

At Faro Springs, Stockbridge Harbor and Quinney reports were that the ice, flooded Wednesday, was drying up rapidly. Some fishermen were taking shanties off the lake while others were moving them further out on the ice to dry areas, Gib Schoen said at Stockbridge.

All three lake access points reported many fishermen on the lake and good ice conditions.

Race Seeks Hearing On Wolf River Bill

Proposal Singles Out State Water; Would Aid Menominees

WASHINGTON — Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac, today vowed an all-out effort to obtain an early hearing on his bill to preserve a portion of the Wolf River as a national scenic waterway.

Race made the pledge after meeting with Rep. Wayne K. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee and House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. He is a member of the committee and its subcommittee on national parks to which Race's Wolf River bill was assigned.

Race said today that he withdrew the Wolf River from his Wild River legislation introduced last year "so we would have a better chance of action on the Wolf yet this year." Race's 1965 Wild Rivers Bill would have designated the Wolf and five other non-Wisconsin rivers as a nucleus for a national wild rivers system.

"Although the Senate has passed the Wild Rivers bill, all indications point to pigeon-holing of the legislation in the House. For this reason," Race explained, "I introduced a bill pertaining only to the Wolf River so this magnificent waterway could get the earliest possible protection."

New Proposal

Race's new proposal would not only preserve a portion of the Wolf River in its still unspoiled state, but would also authorize the purchase or lease of up to 10,000 acres of adjacent or nearby land for recreational purposes.

"Most of this land is located in Menominee County," Race noted. "Purchase or lease of this land would serve a dual purpose of providing Menominee County and the Menominee Indians with desperately needed funds to combat some of the most severe economic problems in Wisconsin."

Race's bill would authorize the state of Wisconsin to administer the national scenic waterway, an arrangement similar to that in effect in the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve in the congressman's home district.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Rep. Henry S. Reuss joined Race in co-sponsoring the Wolf River Bill earlier this week.

Union Gains Victory Over Teamsters Unit

Municipal Local 73 Wins Special Election At Appleton Plant

The newly-formed Appleton Municipal Employes Local 73 scored a union representation victory over the Teamsters in a special election at the city sewage treatment plant Wednesday.

A spokesman for Teamsters Local 563 said today the status of the work unit designated by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) will be challenged within the five-day period.

Local 73, affiliated with the Wisconsin Council of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, AFL-CIO, had petitioned the WERB for the election.

The Teamsters have represented the treatment plant employes for years.

Challenge Votes

Of the 15 votes cast, five were challenged by Teamsters Local 563, and the other 10 favored Local 73. Walter Kwapil, WERB representative, said a decision would be made later on the admissibility of the challenged ballots.

James Miller, Green Bay, is business agent for Local 73 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes. The latter recently organized several Outagamie County Courthouse employes and a representation election is forthcoming.

For several years the union has been the bargaining representative for employes in the Outagamie County Highway Department.

Formed Recently

Local 73 was formed several weeks ago at the local treatment plant with the assistance of a foreman, who has since resigned and is employed at Green Bay.

At a previous WERB hearing the Teamsters threatened to file unfair labor practice charges against the foreman and city but held the action in abeyance.

Moon Surface Hard, but Ship Alters Stance

MOSCOW (AP) — Luna 9, the Soviet Union's moon spaceship, landed on hard, porous lunar soil composed of cracked rock that did not sink under the 3,482-pound visitor from earth, Soviet scientists told a news conference today.

But for some reason not immediately explained, the spacecraft shifted its position slightly between its second and third transmissions back to earth of pictures of the bleak scene around it.

The spaceship which made the first safe landing on the moon and then sent back pictures of the surface stood only about two feet high, the scientists reported.

Alexander Vinogradov of the Soviet Academy of Sciences said Luna 9 found no dust on the moon, contrary to long speculation on the earth. He warned, however, that the spaceship's limited view might not be typical of the whole surface of the moon.

Vinogradov said the pictures from Luna 9, showing a rocky desert, indicated the effects on volcanic lava caused by temperature fluctuations, the sun's rays, meteorite crashes, wind and the brief effects of water and gas from volcanic eruptions before they disappeared in the lack of atmosphere.

Attorney, Treasurer Posts

Petitions on Menasha Appointments Ready

MENASHA — A group of citizens objecting to the manner in which councilmen voted to put the city attorney and treasurer on tenure Jan. 4 announced they would file petitions today signed by about 800 Menashans.

The petitions call for the council to rescind its action and return the election of the treasurer to popular ballot and the attorney to election by the common council.

The council waived the normal procedure of prior publication and a public hearing when the aldermen unanimously passed the charter ordinance.

Cliff Lee, 733 Carver Lane, and Leo Sommers, 617 State St., who organized the petition gathering effort, issued a joint statement today listing 829 signatures opposing the city attorney's tenure and 793 opposing the city treasurer's tenure.

Pass Goal

Putting a public official on an appointive-tenure basis means that he can be fired only for legal cause.

"Signed petitions are still coming in," Lee said, "and Mr. Sommers and I are still meeting people and receiving calls from others who want to protest this action by signing these petitions."

The initial goal of the group was to get 407 names, the amount that would be required in a second petition to force a referendum vote on the ordinance changes.

The drive continued for some five weeks until more than twice the initial goal was obtained, Lee said. He added that there had been "no trouble" in getting the signess and said virtually no one refused to sign once the action was explained to them.

"These petitions illustrate dramatically that the citizens of Menasha are very unhappy with the decision of the common council to put the city treasurer and city attorney on tenure," he said.

"These petitions clearly show that the citizens are disturbed over the fact that they were denied public debate and were not given the opportunity to know the pros and cons before the ordinance was passed," he continued.

Appleton 'Y' Member Drive Brings in 173

Volunteers Have Goal of 1,000 In Next Week

A total of 173 new members of the 1,000 new-member goal have been added to the Appleton Family YMCA, it was reported Wednesday by volunteers at the first report meeting of the 1966 new membership campaign.

Gene Jones and Richard Heronimus brought in the most members, with 58 new members and 71 renewals.

Mrs. Robert Gottschalk was in charge of the top team. Mrs. Gottschalk had the individual high with 12 new memberships and William Maurer and LeRoy Belling were second with 11.

The 400 volunteers were asked to complete their visits before the next meeting 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the YMCA.

Mrs. James Mohr, chairman, and Dr. C. E. Fenlon, co-chairman, announced that memberships which are sold may be reported and turned in anytime at the Y before the next meeting.

Mrs. Mohr also indicated that anyone in the community who has not been visited and is interested in joining the YMCA may contact the Y office prior to March 1 while the low rates still apply.

Kellett Will Aid Planning Of New Store

NEENAH - MENASHA — William Kellett, retired president of Kimberly - Clark Corp., has been named to the board of directors of Johnson-Hill, Inc., the owners of the Jandrey's department store.

Jandreys was established nearly 100 years ago by Kellett's grandfather, William Kellett. The naming of Kellett to the board represents a return of his family to the management of the department store, since the Kellett interests were sold out to the Jandreys in 1905.

Johnson - Hill, a Wisconsin Rapids-based chain of midwestern department stores, bought Jandreys in October and at that time announced plans for a new store on the site of the present Jandreys. The cost of the new "complete department store" was estimated at about $2 million.

In the firm's announcement today, Chester Bell, Johnson-Hill president, said Kellett will advise on the planning of the new store. In 1964, as a director of the First National Bank of Neenah, Kellett served on the building committee for its new modern bank.

Kellett is the first local director on the Johnson - Hill board.

To Your Good Health

Treatment Usually Possible for Gastritis

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please explain gastritis, its causes, symptoms and treatment—M. B.

Gastritis is a general term meaning that the gastric area—the stomach—is inflamed.

There may be pain, or there may just be a feeling of fullness or pressure. Headache, nausea, vomiting may follow. Diarrhea is possible.

Dr. Molner

Treatment depends on the cause. If caused by acids or corrosive chemicals, immediate treatment is required to neutralize them as well as to wash them out of the stomach.

Hiatal hernia (which involves a portion of the stomach being forced through an aperture in the diaphragm) causes that portion of the stomach to be subject to irritation and inflammation. That's gastritis of one type.

Food poisoning, spoiled food, or other poisons and irritants can cause gastritis.

Infection, and overproduction of stomach acid are other causes. Alcohol, especially on an empty stomach, is a very common cause. In that case, large amounts of Vitamin C have been helpful, although for the most part medicine is not beneficial. Rather, a bland, soft diet usually solves the difficulty in a short time.

The prime question, with gastritis, is "What's inflaming the stomach?" Then the answer is usually readily apparent.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have been told that emphysema is the same as silicosis. Enclosed is a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10c in coin for a copy of your booklet, "How to Control Empysema."—H.C.P.

They are not identical although there are similarities. Both involve loss of ability by the lungs to absorb enough oxygen. Silicosis and emphysema may be present at the same time, but there are countless emphysema cases which do not involve silicosis. The explanation in the booklet will make this still more clear.

Dear Dr. Molner: Why do they all say "See your doctor: there is so much that can be done for arthritis?" I did and all I could get from him was, "Can't do much for it. Just take aspirin." Does drinking a lot of milk help?—Mrs. C. W.

Who are "they"? But I'll tell you why I say see your doctor. Because there are various kinds of arthritis, and some kinds of pains that seem like arthritis—yet aren't. I've encountered many such instances. The first purpose in seeing your doctor is to find out what you really have. After that, it depends. Some arthritis can be helped to a remarkable degree. Other cases are best handled just by keeping the arthritis from becoming too annoying and keeping it from interfering too much with your activity.

Milk has nothing to do with arthritis.

Aspirin or one of the salicylate derivatives remain an excellent first treatment of many arthritis problems.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will using a transistor hearing device impair the hearing?—H. K.

No. All it does is make sounds louder, just like turning up the volume of a TV set. Sometimes, I know some people with hearing aids (whether with transistors or other kinds but nearly all are transistor - type now) think hearing aids have harmed them. In such cases, the real story is that their hearing was going downhill anyway.

Human Rights Council Sets Membership Drive

Valley Group Seeks Enrollment Goal of 500

In 7 Communities Starting Next Monday

A membership drive, aimed at pushing the Fox Valley Human Rights Council's enrollment above the 500 mark, will begin Monday, according to James Sutherland, membership committee chairman.

The drive will continue for a month in all seven communities of the Fox Cities. The organization now numbers 421 members.

Membership is open to those who subscribe to the purpose of the organization which is to "create affirmative attitudes toward full enjoyment and exercise of equal opportunities by all citizens of the community," and to "attempt by discussion and other means to stimulate the people of the community to a greater understanding and appreciation of the rights of all people regardless of race, creed, color or national origin."

"Basically the Council is an attempt by local people to solve—and prevent—local problems in the area of human rights," Sutherland said. "A large membership greatly helps in attaining this goal both by developing a more informed and active Council, and by creating a greater 'community voice' for the cause of human rights in the Fox Cities."

Those active in the drive are Mrs. Dolores Feldkamp, Neil McCarty, and Mrs. Marcus Nigl, all of Kaukauna; Robert Valentyn, for Kimberly and Combined Locks; Marshall Granros, Little Chute; Kenneth Mattern, Menasha; and Mrs. Edward C. Dahl, Robert Knuppel, Fred Schweikher, Rev. James Vahey, Mrs. Albert Volpintesta, and Ralph West, all of Appleton.

Texas Poll Tax Struck Down, Election Outlook Confusing

Special Legislative Session Might Be Called for Registration System

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 1966 election outlook in Texas has been thrown into a state of confusion by a federal court's ruling that the state's poll tax was unconstitutional.

Surprised Texas officials pondered their next move today in the wake of the 45-page opinion handed down Wednesday by the three-judge federal court.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr and Gov. John Connally declined comment until they had studied the opinion and consulted with each other.

The state has 14 days to ask the 5th U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals or the U. S. Supreme Court to stay the order.

Unless the order is stayed Connally may have to call a special legislative session to enact a voter registration system.

Special Session

Connally said at a recent news conference that a federal court ruling wiping out the $1.75 poll tax was one thing that could bring on a special session this year.

The court's decision — to take effect immediately — prohibits the state from requiring "the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in general, special and primary elections, federal, state or local, in the state of Texas."

Deadline for poll tax payment was Jan. 31. Party primaries are May 7 for Congress, statewide and local offices and the state legislature. Filing deadline for candidates was Monday.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach filed suits last August under congressional instructions in the 1965 Voting Rights Act, challenging the Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas poll taxes. A suit filed earlier, testing the Virginia poll tax, is now before the U. S. Supreme Court. The federal suits allege the poll tax discriminates against Negroes.

Texas Opinion

The Texas opinion was written by Circuit Judge Homer Thornberry and was signed also by Circuit Judge John R. Brown and federal U. S. Dist. Judge Adrian Spears.

The government based much of its case on the assertion that the poll tax was a heavier financial burden for Negroes than for whites because racial discrimination depressed the Negro economically.

Thornberry's opinion disregarded this assertion.

While acknowledging that the poll tax was established as a voting requirement in 1902 "to disfranchise the Negro," Thornberry added: "The evidence does not establish that the poll tax in Texas discriminates against Negroes in violation of the 5th Amendment or the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution."

The court struck down the requirement on the broader philosophical grounds that it is "an unjustified restriction on one of the most basic rights guaranteed by the due process clause" of the U.S. Constitution.

The court noted that recent poll tax statistics indicate that 57.3 per cent of eligible Texas whites and 45.3 per cent of eligible Negroes pay the poll tax.

Australia Ready To Use Dollars

Changeover From English System Will Begin Monday

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australia's banks were closed today. When they open again on Monday, it will be a whole new world — a world of dollars and cents.

The change to the decimal system, for which Australia has been preparing for two years, is not without problems.

But the government reckons that the four-day bank holiday plus an intensive public educational campaign should keep confusion to a minimum. Although all banking business starting Feb. 14 will be done in dollars, other businesses have up to two years to make the change.

Eventually the country will abandon use of english-type money — pounds, shillings and pence — and go to all dollars and cents.

$1.12 in U. S. Money

The dollar, the name of the unit chosen, will be equivalent to $1.12 in U. S. money.

New Australian bills have been printed in denominations of 1, 2, 10 and 20 dollars. New coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents, 600 million of them, have been minted.

The old currency and coins gradually will be withdrawn as they reach banks. The currencies are interchangeable—for example, a 10-shilling note equals the new Australian dollar.

The move to simpler coinage follows the decision to make the Australian pound—now $2.24—equal to two Australian dollars, and the shilling worth 10 cents.

Among the roblems are conversion of 500,000 business machines from pounds, shillings and pence to dollars and cents. The government is footing this bill, estimated at $67 million.

Angus Bull Sold For $71,250

PERTH, Scotland (AP) — An American buyer paid the top price of $71,250 for a prize animal at the annual Aberdeen Angus bull sale in Perth today.

Another American dealer, Clint Thompson, paid $28,500 for the supreme champion, Black Beckett of Barnoldby, on behalf of L. L. O'Brien of Wisconsin.

FCC Resumes Investigation of CATV Impact

Federal Agency Considering Extent of Industry Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission takes up today where it left off last spring in its scrutiny of the impact of Community Antenna Television on federally licensed television.

The closed meeting was expected to be the first in a long series as the FCC debates the extent to which it will regulate the CATV industry.

The result, sources close to the commission said, is expected to be a decision to control all 1,600 CATV systems in the nation — including the more than 1,000 that operate merely by erecting a master antenna outside a town to pull down available television signals and transmit them by cable into the homes of fee-paying subscribers.

The commission decided last spring to assume control of the 450 or so CATV operations that use microwave relay systems — already controlled by the FCC — to relay the programs of distant television stations to their master antennas.

Nonduplication Requirement

At the heart of the controversy between broadcasters and CATV interests is the so-called "carriage and nonduplication" requirement now in effect.

Aimed at protecting television stations, this requirement dictates that a microwave-served CATV system must carry all local channels to the limits of its channel capacity, and black out all programs from distant stations that duplicate the programs of local stations for 15 days before and after local broadcasts.

The commission begins consideration of new regulations with a 93-page recommendation from its staff, urging it to impose tight restrictions on CATV operators for the next five years.

But that recommendation, FCC sources indicated today, is expected to be revised by the seven commissioners.

Transit Workers Insist on Raises

NEW YORK (AP) — The Transport Workers Union says it will insist that its strike-won contract be honored by the city, despite a state court's view that the bus and subway workers cannot collect a pay raise for three years.

"New York's transit workers will insist that the Transit Authority and the mayor live up to the agreement," said a spokesman for the AFL-CIO union.

State Supreme Court Justice Irving H. Saypol, in a ruling Wednesday on a taxpayer's suit, sharply rebuked the authority for its agreement to pay 34,000 transit workers about $60 million they won during last month's crippling 12-day strike.

Man Loses 113 Pounds To Become Policeman

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — In order to fulfill a lifetime dream to become a policeman, David Friddie was told to lose some weight.

Friddie, 32, lost 113 pounds — from a tight 50 to a loose 38" — and was sworn in as a full-fledged policeman.

He had weighed 338 pounds, spread over a 6-foot-4 frame, but is now down to 225 pounds.

Opposition Expected in Senate

Switch of Community Relations To Justice Department Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress today a proposal to shift the Community Relations Service from the Commerce Department to the Justice Department.

The service was established under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to head off racial disputes by conciliation and mediation.

If neither the House nor Senate acts unfavorably within 60 days, the plan will go into effect. No affirmative action is required.

The plan is expected to have fairly clear sailing in the House, but things may be a bit rougher in the Senate. Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a civil rights supporter, and Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who has opposed rights measures, have announced opposition to the shift.

Meanwhile 13 senators joined in offering a six-part civil rights bill designed primarily to protect Negroes and civil rights workers against what they termed "segregated justice."

The 10 Democrats and three Republicans said their measure would carry out many recommendations by the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

President Johnson has said he would submit legislation in this field but has not yet done so.

The rights measure would ban discrimination on grounds of race or color in federal and state jury selection, and would permit trial of state crimes in federal courts if necessary to assure equal protection of the laws.

Individuals or the attorney general would be permitted to obtain injunctions against rights violations, and a board would be established in the rights commission to indemnify persons who are killed, injured or lose property because of lawful civil rights activities.

The bill also would allow cases involving Negroes and other civil rights workere in areas of "segregated justice" to be moved from state to federal courts and would apply equal employment opportunity provisions of the 1964 rights act to state and local governments.

Congressmen Join Proxmire Milk Cut Fight

Byrnes, Laird Add Objections to School Program Reduction

Post Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON—Two Wisconsin Republican House members today joined Democratic Sen. William Proxmire in blasting President Johnson's proposed budget cut of the school milk fund for the fiscal year 1966 from the present $103 million to $21 million.

"The President said in his state-of-the-union message that we must not sacrifice the little children," Rep. John W. Byrnes, R., Green Bay recalled. "Then he proposed to cut school milk and lunch programs while at the same time asking for $200 million to beautify the highways. I have real trouble following his reasoning."

"It makes no sense for the Democratic administration to require school children to undergo a 'needs test' or take a 'paupers' test in order to qualify for school milk at reduced prices," complained Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R., Marshfield. "We have heard a lot from this administration about the adver administration about the adverse effects a need test can have on elder citizens who try to qualify for medical or hospital care, and it seems to me that a school child would be much more adversely affected than the more mature members of our society."

On the other side of the Capitol, Proxmire has been making speeches on the Senate floor all week criticizing the proposed budgetary cut in the year starting July 1. He and other senators from milk-producing states plan to press for measures restoring this cut.

Families Flee After Explosion In Racine Home

RACINE (AP)—A dozen families were forced to flee their homes Wednesday night after explosion and fire wrecked a dwelling in the neighborhood.

The explosion occurred at the home of Mrs. Laura Henderson, 63. She was admitted to a hospital for treatment of burns. Her condition was described as fair.

Police said Mrs. Henderson was alone when the explosion occurred.

Fire Chief Harvey Alford said the explosion was apparently caused by a leak of natural gas.

The homes were ordered evacuated for about three hours while workers dug outside the wrecked home for the source of the explosion.

Warm Days Favor Kickapoo Flooding

More Rain Predicted in Already Wet Areas of Western Wisconsin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The swollen Kickapoo River continued to kick its traces today as unseasonably warm temperatures and chronic rainfall sent flood waters sloshing through western and southwestern Wisconsin.

The Pine, Pecatonica, Eau Galle and Willow rivers joined the Kickapoo in bringing distress to sections of Crawford, La Fayette, Vernon and St. Croix counties.

"The river bank?" replied Chief of Police Alvin Lee of Gays Mills to a question. "We've forgotten that such a thing as a river bank ever existed."

There were no reports of deaths from any of the affected areas, but 12 to 15 families were evacuated from Gays Mills, Lee said.

Soldiers Grove

In nearby Soldiers Grove, Mayor Cecil Turk said 40 to 50 people had left town because of the advancing waters.

Lee said no homes in Gays Mills were in any immediate danger of being swept away, but some were evacuated as a precautionary measure.

Rainfall which has added to the dangers of the early thaw on the western rivers, was predicted again for today.

In Gays Mills, sandbags supplied by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, were pressed into service to protect the business district as water, in some places as deep as four feet, crept over two-thirds of the town's surface.

Sandbags were also used in Soldiers Grove as National Guardsmen, Civil Defense workers, and Red Cross personnel went to work moving furniture to higher ground and setting up cooking and sleeping facilities.

Schools Closed

The flood waters forced the closing of many schools in the area and disrupted highway travel.

Ontario in Vernon County was isolated for a time because the highways leading into the community were blocked by the water.

The Pecatonica menaced the town of Darlington in La Fayette County as its waters overflowed, scattering huge chunks of ice across roadways.

Some stores in Darlington were reported flooded. The town's fire department, fearful that the waters might split the community in two by forcing the closing of Main Street bridge, sent one fire truck from the north to the south side just in case.

Ice piled up at a dam in Richland Center was dynamited in an attempt to force the water level down.

Don Jones Sends News On Broadway Theater

Attic Director Talks Dramatic Shop With Jingo, Reviewing Current Plays

BY JINGO

Jingo's special correspondent at New York City, Don Jones, has sent a firsthand report of current Broadway news.

Commenting on "Malcolm," the ill-fated Edward Albee play adapted from the novel by James Purdy, onetime Lawrence University professor, Jones said it was not a total disaster. The people in the show, the set and costumes, the incidental music and even the direction were not wanting." Jones maintained the main difficulty was with the script, which took an interesting novel and did nothing with it. It was difficult to care about Malcolm as a character or as a play." The Albee play lasted only seven performances last month.

Jingo

• • •

An "oasis in the desert" is how Jones describes "Sweet Charity." "Gwen Verdon (whose dog 'Charlie' went to dog school with mine) is a triple threat. She sings, dances and tugs at your heart. It is still not a topnotch show but it is a great deal better than anything else around." The play is being presented in the newly redone Palace Theatre.

• • •

After viewing the opening night of "Marat-Sade," Jones noted, "You can't come away from it humming the hit tunes. It is a wonderful theatrical evening, rather like a visit to the show at a mental institution. I'm not certain that the content of the play is as important as the trappings in which it was seen." The cast is uniformly superb.

• • •

One of the best things on Broadway, the correspondent suggested, is "You Can't Take It With You." He said, "APA is doing it. They are the group that held sway at the Miller (now Milwaukee Repertory Theatre) for a year or two." Attic Theatre here also did the play several years ago.

• • •

"The Man of La Mancha" was termed "a great evening. It is worth the trip just to see the theatre."

• • •

Jones noted that Ethel Merman will do a revival of "Annie Get Your Gun" this summer at the New York State Theatre. He said "The Women" also will be done at an off-Broadway theater and may be brought to Broadway, following the pattern of "The Glass Menagerie" last year. Jones commented, "Attic seems to be leading the way."

• • •

Jingo's man on the scene also took time to view "Doctor Zhivago," which he described as "a long, colorful soap opera. The people in it are fine, Julie Christie in particular."

• • •

The film version of "Ten Little Indians" will open at New York on Wednesday. Jones said "I hope it's either very good or very bad." Reports are that the correspondent will find the latter to be true.

• • •

Jingo, who has campaigned for the showing of "Camera Three" on WBAY-TV, Channel 2, Green Bay, would like to thank the station for placing it on the air. Formerly preempted for a Sunday morning movie, it is now being offered at 7:30 a.m. Sunday mornings, seven days delayed from the original CBS telecast. Though a bit early for the masses, it is at least available.

Jingo plans a special column soon which will touch on other shows aimed at audiences interested in the arts and public affairs which are not seen on the three Green Bay channels.

The movie will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in Appleton High School Auditorium. Tickets are available at the box office.

Popular Musical, 'Student Prince,' At Pabst Theater

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A perennial favorite, "The Student Prince," opened Tuesday night at the Pabst Theater for a two-week run. Although the musical may show a good deal of age there is a good deal going for it.

The 42-year-old musical is dated, overblown and still a great favorite for those who love the sweetness of Sigmund Romberg's music and Dorothy Donnelly's lyrics.

Roger K. Marsh has given the musical a bright production.

The big draw of the production is a long time stage favorite, Allan Jones, who is using the role of Dr. Engel, the prince's tutor, to break eight years of semi-retirement from the stage.

Skillful Doubletalker Needs Constant Study

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — It is time we had another double-talk drill

One can get in shape for playing baseball by a few weeks of intensive training But double-talk is a demanding skill, one that must be exercised constantly Otherwise you might slip and start saying what you do really think And what will that get you — except possibly a bloody nose?

Double-talk, as we have pointed out, is the conversational salve that keeps the human social order from rubbing itself raw

For the uninitiated, here are a few typical examples of double-talk — with the literal translations

'Sorry, only one to a customer ' Even we don't have the heart to unload more than one of these on you

Don't Like Beards

'Frankly, I don't like beards on most men, but on you, well—" Anything that hides even part of your face is an improvement

"No, never mind pouring me another martini I think I'll take a glass of cold water instead " This guy must make his own cheap gin. No liquor store could sell it and stay in business

"In all the confusion, I must have taken your umbrella by mistake " And now that I see it's broken, I might as well give it back.

'Just for a lark, Sidney and I decided to go on a honeymoon by bus to Niagara Falls " That's Sid's regular route He drove, and I sat in the seat behind him

'Let me take the matter under advisement until such time as I can give it the full attention I know it deserves " I can't make heads or tails of it.

If You Insist

Well of course, if you insist on doing it your way—" I'll be too busy to attend your funeral

'Congratulations Roscoe This is the third month in a row you've led your department in putting new ideas in the office suggestion box " When are you going to buckle down and start doing the work you're being paid to do

"You have paid me a great honor, Horace, but I don't feel like I am ready yet to settle down and get married at—" At my age on your measly salary. But if you ever get promoted, you know where I live

"You understand I don't give out my phone number to just anybody " Only to anybody who asks for it

Futile Hope

"I thought that was you I saw " But I was hoping I could slip by without you seeing me

"Please let me help you on with your coat " Anything to get you on your way.

"I don't know when I ever had a meal like that!" Oh, yes, now I remember It was when I was studying sociology in college, and the entire class ate at the state penitentiary.

"I need that one like I do another hole in the head " So make mine a double

"They're fine pictures, Jim You certainly have an interesting family " Interesting to an anthropologist, maybe

"A penny for your thoughts, Mabel " But it'll be a poor investment unless you give me back 10 cents in change

'If you ever need a friend, just call on—" Someone besides me

"We found your last column particularly useful, Mr Boyle " We tore it up and used it to line the cat's box

Estate Willed To Uncle Sam

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn (AP) — The federal government has received $667 37 from the estate of a man who suffered a stroke and died on a Chattanooga street two years ago

The handwritten will of James Lyle who was about 88 when he died, said there was $3,000 in a safety deposit box in a bank here

'Great Imposter' Lives In Interfaith Monestary

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

WIEN, Mo (AP) — Ferdinand Waldo Demara, nicknamed "The Great Imposter" for successfully impersonating a surgeon, a college professor and a civil engineer, is living as a postulant in an interfaith monastery.

"I expect to stay here the rest of my life," said Demara 43, Friday when he was interviewed in the quarters of the Brotherhood of Christian Unity.

"I have come here to Wien to dedicate my life to Christian unity, to work and prayer," he said "This is the only interfaith community in the world "

Demara, subject of a book and movie titled 'The Great Imposter," picked a desolate place to hide from the publicity he says follows him whenever he is uncovered Wien, with a population of 35, is away from major highways in a farming area of northern Missouri The membership of the brotherhood stands at five

Founded in 1964

Father Joseph Starmann, a Roman Catholic priest, founded the brotherhood in 1964

"People have the idea that I went through life thumbing my nose at officialdom," said Demara, known now as Brother Frederick 'That's not so My life really has been a series of tragedies "

He occasionally dons a black cassock over his 6-foot, 250 pound frame to give scientific demonstrations to the 54 students who attended St Mary's School across the street

David McBrayer, a photographer for the Daily News-Bulletin in nearby Brookfield, spotted him at a Parent Teacher Association meeting this week on one of the few forays to the outside world Demara has made since he came here last Thanksgiving.

No Publicity

'I have good reason to avoid news people." Demara said "I have been misquoted and lied about I would like not to have any story at all. When I came here I gave Father Starmann my full background and I was accepted on the condition there would be no publicity "

Father Starmann said Demara presented letters showing he was ordained by the American Evangelical Church, headquartered in Chicago.

Demara says he left his Lawrence, Mass, home at 16 and joined a Cistercian order

By his own account, he transferred to another order, went AWOL from the Army and Navy, and became a Trappist monk He says he later taught psychology at colleges in Erie, Pa, and Lacy, Wash The FBI arrested him in Washington and he served 1½ years as a deserter

Later he acquired the credentials of a Canadian physician, Demara's account says, and, as a Royal Canadian Navy doctor, performed a number of operations on wounded men in the Korean war

The doctor whose credentials he acquired, Joseph C. Cyr, read a newspaper account of Demara and exposed him Demara says he later directed a Madera, Calif, school for boys who are wards of state courts

"I have been described as a working impostor," Demara said "Actually, I have found needs and tried to fulfill them "

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: Elder is used only of persons who are members of the same family, as, "Jim is the elder of the two brothers." Older is used of persons and things indiscriminately, as, "Anne is older than her friend," or, "My house is older than yours."

OFTEN MISSPELLED: Accede; observe the "cede." Exceed; "ceed."

SYNONYMS: Fraud, artifice, cheat, deception, dishonesty, imposture, swindle, treachery, treason, [illegible].

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Today's word: Penury; absence of resources; destitution. (Accent first syllable.) "Thriftiness today will prevent penury tomorrow."

Paint a Wooden Bowl Using Enamel Paints and Lacquer

BY CAPPY DICK

Have you ever tried painting a wooden bowl? It's fun to do and, when completed, the bowl makes a good present to give to your mother, grandmother, aunt or a neighbor.

Plain wooden bowls are not expensive. A water color paint brush, some bright - colored enamel paints and some lacquer are the only other materials required.

The surface of some wooden bowls is rough. Others have so much oil on them it is difficult to make paint stick. In either case you can smooth the wood or remove much of the oily surface by rubbing the bowl with fine sandpaper.

Choose a simple design to paint inside the bowl. Mexican and South Seas designs are colorful (see Figures 1 and 2). It might be helpful to sketch the picture very lightly with pencil to provide guide lines for your paint brush.

Before starting to paint decide where each color is to go. Put on all the red at one time, even though the spots may be in different parts of the picture. Apply all the blue at one time, all the green at one time, and so on. This will help prevent the colors from running into each other. To prevent the enamel from spreading outside the picture, the lines which you traced may be outlined with black wax crayon. Do not paint over the crayon. Later, when the paint has dried, the crayon may be rubbed off with a cloth.

When the painting has been finished, the enamel has dried and any crayon lines have been removed, apply a coat of clear lacquer over it. This will prevent chipping of the enamel.

Golden Eagle In London Gets Face Lifting

LONDON (AP) — The big golden eagle on the American Embassy is getting its biennial beauty treatment, but the embassy won't say what color it will be when the beauticians get through.

The 35-foot aluminum bird has been hidden behind scaffolding and canvas for about a week. The last time the public saw it the eagle had turned black from anticorrosion paint.

As workmen attempted to restore its original gold color, London birdwatchers feared it would end up sandy brown or retain a darkish hue. The embassy refused to be drawn into the speculation.

The eagle stirred up a controversy five years ago when it was put up on the new embassy in Grosvenor Square. Many Britons complained that it was too large—larger than any British lion in the vicinity.

Gene Autry, Willie Mays Among Fliers

Squadron Lists Impressive Roster

By EDDIE ADAMS

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — If you want to meet Gene Autry, Davey Crockett, Daniel Boone, Willie Mays and Davey Jones, come to the South China Sea.

Explaining their job — Flying men and materiel in the 345th Troop Carrier Squadron's C130 Hercules planes — is easier than explaining their names.

Take staff Sgt. David Crockett, 28, of Jamestown, Tenn. He does not even know if he's kin to the legendary bear-wrestler and Alamo hero.

"I really took a ribbing when the song Davey Crockett was the No. 1 hit," said the sergeant. "Now it doesn't bother me at all. I really don't know if my family tree goes back that far."

'Weird Looks'

When they went out on dates, they used to introduce themselves and wait for the impact. "We got a sort of a weird look from the girls. I don't think they really believed us," he said.

Crockett recalls he rather enjoyed meeting Daniel Boone in Okinawa a year ago. Both are flight engineers.

Boone, 23, of Foley, Ala. says "It's a name that people remember but sometimes I wish they hadn't."

When Boone went through boot camp, his instructor on the rifle range naturally figured a guy with a monicker like that was a born sharpshooter.

"I barely qualified," Boone said. "He was furious."

Even in Brazil

"We were picking up some troops in Brazil to take to the Dominican Republic," Boone says, and "this one Brazilan came over and read my name tag. He spelled it out slowly, then said it loud, and louder, an ran away waving his hands and yelling 'Daniel Boone!'."

Lt. Gene Autry, 27, from Lillington, N.C., a C130 pilot, knows he is no relation of the singing cowboy but he is in a tough spot trying to tell people that. They won't believe it. He said he once saw Autry at a fair in Raleigh, N.C., but never got a chance to talk to him.

"My ID card is always coming out of my wallet," Autry says. "What is worse is that my brother-in-law is a second lieutenant in the Air Force in Orlando, Fla. His wife, my sister, gets pretty embarrassed when she introduces us. His name is Andrew Jackson. When Bob Hope had his show over here around Christmas time, I flew him around in my plane. He came over to me one day after reading my name tag and said 'I want your autograph so the people back home will believe me, and by the way, let's not fly sidesaddle while I'm aboard'."

Other squadron members are Willie Mays, 24, of Tuskegee, Ala., with the same name as the baseball star; and pilot Davey Jones, 26, of Newport Beach, Calif. His counterpart is the sailor's sea spirit.

Liquid Spirits Vanish Into Air in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Police are searching for spirits which apparently either were spirited away or just disappeared into thin air.

The spirits, 35 kegs of Scotch whisky valued at $29,190, vanished Tuesday, police said Wednesday, after being unloaded from a freight car in a New York Central Railroad yard on the South Side.

They were gone when a driver for the Tumbleson Transfer Co. in Pekin went to pick up the trailer on which they had been packed Tuesday night, said Detective Raymond Willey.

The whisky had been purchased by American Distillers, Pekin, and arrived in Chicago Monday from London, England, he said.

Little Chute Board Sets Teachers' Pay Schedule

Base Salary for Instructors With Bachelor's Raised $100 to $5,150 for 1966-67 Year

LITTLE CHUTE — The board of education Tuesday night adopted a salary schedule for the 1966-67 school year which increased the base pay of teachers with a bachelor's degree from $5,050 to $5,150.

A 15-year increment plan was approved calling for annual increases of $175 through 15 years, making the top salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree $7,775. Teachers with 16 credits toward a master's degree will receive an additional $200 and those with a master's degree will receive an additional $400. The latter will also receive an additional $20 on the step plan after receiving their degree.

Health Insurance

The board also approved payment of full coverage for teachers in a health insurance plan, group municipal life insurance plan, raised accumulative sick leave from 45 to 60 days with 10 days per year, and agreed to pay $25 per credit toward summer school or extension work in an approved master's degree program.

Teachers will be required to receive six credits beyond their bachelor's degree every five years, will be granted three days emergency leave per year and will receive extra pay for extra duties acording to a schedule set up by Leo Bronkalla, superintendent of schools, and approved by the board.

No teacher will be granted more than $400 per year pay increases. Teachers will be urged to live within the district when possible and full credit will be given teachers with up to six years experience and half a credit for those with six to 10 years experience.

Seek Teachers

Bronkalla was authorized to begin hiring teachers to staff the new high school under construction and was urged to develop teaching experience within the staff when teachers were hired.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Turner, Appleton, submitted a bid of $7,752 for a three-bedroom home located on school property and were awarded the structure with the stipulation the home be removed by April 30. Six bids were received, ranging from the high to a low of $2,020. Second low bid was $4,250.

The board acepted the bid of Milwaukee Equipment Co. for $33,782 for basic equipment and cabinetry for the school. Alternates may raise the cost to $35,834. Four bids were received, low being by the St. Charles Equipment Co., but the school board felt steel rather than wood equipment was more suitable.

Utility Bid

Bronkalla informed board members the bid was about $12,000 lower than anticipated.

Board members also accepted the bid of the Kaukauna Electric Utility to provide outside lighting at the school at a cost of $20 per month. Installation of the exterior lighting will be deducted from the electrical contract at a savings of about $2,800.

The board set Sept. 1 as the age limit date for children to be enrolled in kindergarten, thus corresponding to other communities in the area. Previous deadline for enrollment was Oct. 1.

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called at 11:45 a.m. Wednesday to extinguish a fire in the stacks of a Chicago and North Western Railway diesel engine on a siding near the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co.

Wolf Wildlife Survey Scheduled

Wildlife habitat preservation and development in the Wolf River region counties is on the way to becoming a reality, according to Gordon A. Bubolz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission.

A field survey of sites in Winnebago, Waupaca and Outagamie Counties will be conducted next week by Tom Bonde, river basin staff member of United States Fish and Wildlife office in Minnesota.

Tour Area

Bonde will arrive Monday and confer with Wolf River planners and Oshkosh area conservation fish and game managers on Tuesday to review and identify top priority sites.

On Wednesday and Thursday, members of the team will inspect waterfowl and other types of wildlife habitat in the three-county area.

Wayne Truax, area game manager and collaborator with the Wolf River Planning Commission, said the U.S. Department of Interior inspection trips will have two major purposes.

Tentative evaluation will be made of the feasibility of acquiring top priority wildlife habitat areas for a purpose of wildlife preservation, flood control and low water flow augmentation. The latter consists of holding water in reserve in suitable areas, provided by nature for a more uniform flow during low water periods.

A further purpose of the field reconnaissance will be the coordination of the streambank stabilization program which will be extended to all of the counties in the region, including some sub-watersheds, in 1966.

This stabilization program of Wolf River Planning Commission was started in 1965, the first such river bank erosion control in the history of the region.

Expanded Program

Last year, $140,000 was allocated by the state ASCS to three counties of Wolf River region.

The program has doubled with the addition of three counties this year and the work has been expanded calling for increased funds. The amounts will be announced after a Feb. 17 State ASCS committee meeting.

Technical staff which will be added to the Wolf River Region Commission in the near future will include a hydrologist and a site design specialist, in addition to the land use planners presently on the staff. This, according to Bubolz, will enable the Wolf River Planning Commission to strengthen federal-state-county liaison planning assistance and give help to member counties with land and water compliance problems.

Among the committee members is Elmer A. Havens, associate professor of English at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. Havens was a member of the committee which interviewed and recommended candidates for the post of dean at the Fox Valley Center last summer.

Other committee members are Prof. George B. Strother of Madison, chairman of the center system Commerce Department; Harry G. Guilford of Green Bay, professor of botany and zoology; John F. AHS Meets Oshkosh '5' Friday Night

FOX VALLEY CONFERENCE

Appleton	9	5	Sheboygan N.	2	11

Oshkosh	9	5	Green Bay SW	1	13

With Green Bay West's 1965-6 superiority now established beyond a shadow of a doubt, the focus in the Fox River Valley Conference's final two weeks of the campaign will be on the 5-way scramble for second place.

The run for the runnerup spot begins in earnest Friday night when four of the five aspirants clash head-on. Manitowoc, whose hold on second place has been reduced to a single game, invades co-third-place Fond du Lac.

Appleton and Oshkosh, who currently share the third spot with Fond du Lac, collide on the Indians' court. The winner of the Terror-OHS game will tie for second place if Fondy's Cardinals dump Manitowoc. Sheboygan South, the fifth team in the race for the runnerup prize, plays at Green Bay Southwest.

West's Wildcats have already clinched a tie for the title. And, anyone who would have the audacity to suggest that the state's second-ranked team can't win at least once more in four FRVC starts — to stake out undisputed title claim — would be permanently drummed out of the forecasters' union. West, in fact, should make the grade Friday when it plays host to Green Bay East, weakened by the loss of scoring ace Howie Deer.

Schedule Lengthened

GBW will be shooting for the FRVC's first perfect record since the 14-0 mark posted by Manitowoc (Paul Meany, Al Zipperer, et al) in 1960-1. West already has reeled off 14 wins, but the league schedule has been lengthened by the addition of Green Bay Southwest and Preble to membership.

Oshkosh and AHS, the league's two hottest clubs this side of West Green Bay, figure to stage another of the sizzlers typical of their long rivalry. The Don Erickson-coached Indians, picked for second place in pre-season evaluations, have reeled off five straight wins after a disappointing start. Dick Emanuel-coached AHS has notched five wins in its last six starts—losing only to all-victorious West.

In their first meeting—on the AHS court—the Terrors recorded a 66-61 victory. Dennis Vaubel paced the win with 23 points—his biggest night of the

If the Xavier High School basketball team can play with the poise and abandon it showed in the final three quarters of last Sunday's game against Abbot Pennings, it should be able to wrap up its fifth consecutive undisputed Fox Valley Catholic Conference title Saturday night.

The Hawks visit Marinette for a duel with the always-dangerous Cavaliers. Xavier, which already is sure of a title tie, must win one more game of its final three—or runnerup Oshkosh Lourdes must lose one—to round out five seasons of ironclad FVCC basketball rule.

Xavier had been on shaky ground prior to its big second-quarter revival against Pennings. The Hawks were forced to come from 11 points behind to shade Lordes in overtime two weeks ago and had their 5-season FVCC victory streak shattered by Fond du Lac Springs last Friday. Then the Appletonians fell behind Pennings 17-8, in the first quarter Sunday before they regained their offensive and defensive touch to out class Pennings by 24 points the rest of the way.

The FVCC slate begins Friday night when Lourdes invades Green Bay Premontre and Little Chute St. John visits DePere Pennings. Lourdes, which overcame a 9-point deficit at home to edge Premontre, 63-61, in the circuit's first round must win on the Cadets' floor to stay in title contention.

Pennings used a 27-point third period to beat the Chuters, 78-55, in their first meeting. Rick Menard led the way with 26 points, while Jerry Janssen led St John, with 15.

Zephyrs Duel Springs

Saturday's other game, besides Xavier-at-Marinette, will match Menasha St Mary and St. Mary Springs in Fond du Lac. Both of these teams, along with Marinette, are in the running for a first-division berth.

DePaul Hands Marquette 76-70 Defeat

Paul Carbins, of Warriors, Leads Scoring With 27

CHICAGO (AP) — "That little Flanagan killed us from the outside," lamented Coach Al McGuire Wednesday night after his Marquette Warriors dropped a 76-70 decision to DePaul.

McGuire was referring to 5-foot-7 Terry Flanagan, who also murdered Marquette from the foul line while racking up 24 points.

His last seven came on free throws in the final seconds as Marquette was forced to foul in a vain effort to get the ball.

Second Loss

An old Marquette weakness—the slow start — cost the Warriors the game, the second they have lost to DePaul this season.

DePaul jumped off to a 19 - 7 lead forcing Marquette to play catch up ball all night. The

Manitowoc Favored

10 Teams to Compete In Appleton Regional Wrestling Tournament

BY TERRY GALVIN
Post Crescent Staff Writer

Manitowoc looms as the strongest of the 10 teams scheduled to compete in the WIAA Regional Wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday at the Einstein Jr High School gym.

Appleton High School will play host to the regional test, and along with Kimberly, and New Holstein appears to be the best bet for the runnerup position. The Lowell Glynn-coached Terrors placed third in the Fox River Valley Conference meet last weekend, while Coach Tony Dvorek's Papermakers notched the runnerup spot in the Mid-Eastern Conference test.

Other schools slated to participate in the regional here include Ashwaubenon, Kaukauna, New Holstein, Stockbridge, Valders and Wrightstown.

Weigh-ins will be conducted beginning at 5 p.m. Friday, with a coaches' meeting slated for 6 p.m. The quarter-final competition will start at 7 p.m.

Saturday's action features the semi-finals at 1:30 and the finals at 7 p.m. The meet will be held at Einstein both Friday and Saturday. First and second place finishers in the 12 various weight classes will qualify for the sectional meet at Green Bay Preble next weekend.

Glynn, who expects to use the same lineup that competed in the FRVC meet, looks to the middle weight divisions for AHS' power. Jeff Huttenburg, at 165 pounds, heads the Terror aggregation with a 17-1-1 record, including the FRVC title.

Other AHS standouts include 138-pounder Wayne Lutz, with a 10-3-1 mark; 145-pounder Tom Gerrits, 14-3-1; and 154-pounder Scott Ferguson, 7-4.

Dan Thiele Undefeated

The Papermakers are led by 138-pound Dan Thiele, who is unbeaten in 14 matches and the winner of the Seymour Invitational and M-E crowns. Gary Millske, at 13, boasts a 16-1-1 mark, including the Kimberly Invitational and M-E crowns.

Other top Kimberly prospects are Ron Vandenberg (95), with a 1-4 mark; Steve Meixl (103), 10-4; Bob Van Eyck (145), 10-4-4 and heavyweight Dan DeWeert, 12-5.

Kaukauna's top candidates are Bruce McCabe (12) with a 10-3-1 record; Paul Bachhuber (138), 11-2-1; Scott Bay (165), 1-2-1; Pete Parker (180), 7-5-2 and heavyweight Dick Huss, 7-4-1.

Valders is led by 165-pound Elroy Behnke, with an 8-1 mark, while Wrightstown's 95-pounder, Charles Wiegert, is 7-2 and heavyweight Pat Flowers is 6-1-1.

Manitowoc's roster includes unbeaten Randy Welch (17-0), in the 112-pound bracket, and 180-pound John Schuh, owner of a 13-1 mark. Manty's Paul Hartlaub, who has posted nine pins in the 13-pound class, is 15-1-1 for the season.

Undefeated Paul Beohnlein (14-0) heads the New Holstein unit. Beohnlein competes in the 133-pound division. David Heimerman is next in line with a 13-1 mark in the 165-pound class, while 154-pound Phil Baus is 11-2 for the season.

Halas Gives Joe Fortunato 2-Year Pact

CHICAGO (AP) —Veteran Joe Fortunato, linebacker and defensive signal-caller, was awarded a surprising two-year contract by the Chicago Bears Wednesday.

Usually, established players sign on a season-to-season basis.

Terms were not disclosed, but Owner-Coach George Halas said of Fortunato, an 11-season National Football League star with the Bears:

"His over-all value cannot be overestimated. You might call him one of our irreplaceables."

Fortunato, 32, and linebacker Larry Morris, 30, served as Bear defensive co-captains the past few seasons.

Morris recently expressed a desire to be traded to the NFL's new Atlanta Falcons to be closer to his Atlanta insurance business.

FVL at Wis Lutheran

BY TIM PETERMANN

The challenge is there, now all the team has to do is meet it.

These are the words of Fox Valley Lutheran High School head basketball mentor, Gerhard Kaniess, concerning the Foxes' Midwest Prep Conference tilts this weekend.

Friday night, FVL will meet Racine Lutheran on the Foxes' court and Saturday, they will travel to Milwaukee to tangle with the state's seventh-ranked team, Wisconsin Lutheran.

The Foxes will be attempting to snap a losing streak at two games when they meet Racine. This will be the fifth time this year that (FVL) has played two games in one week. The past four times have proved very successful as the Foxes have swept three 2-game weeks and split another for a 7-1 mark. The Foxes have an overall 9-5 record and a 5-4 record in the conference.

Foxes Win, 80-63

In the first meeting with Racine Lutheran, the Foxes romped to an 80-63 decision. After a close first half, the Foxes steadily increased their lead in the second half in one of their best performances of the season. FVL connected on 46 per cent from the floor, 74 per cent from the foul line, had only nine turnovers and controlled the boards.

Junior Dave Tiedt paced the FVL attack with 25 points. He was followed by Mark Dahlke with 23 and Tom Ehlke with 14. Racine's leading scorer was also a junior, Mark Joosse, bucketed 24 for the Crusaders, while teammate Dave Wright chipped in with 16.

Racine's starting lineup, will include Joosse (6-0), Dave Wirt

Has Breathing Problem

Springs' Jim Harbridge Named Player of Week

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jim Harbridge, a 5-foot-10 senior short in breath but long in desire, was named The Associated Press Wisconsin high school basketball "Player of the Week" Wednesday.

Harbridge, handicapped by a chronic breathing problem, led St Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac to a 60-57 upset victory over ninth-ranked Appleton Xavier last Friday.

It was Xavier's first loss in the Fox River Valley Catholic Conference in 54 games.

Harbridge, who had to leave the game in the first half when his ailment forced him to his knees, returned later to spark a last period rally. Though Harbridge only scored 17 points, nine of them came in the last quarter to help wipe out a 50-43 Xavier lead.

"It was an amazing display of courage and basketball skill," said St. Mary's coach, Don Gosz.

Gosz said doctors have found nothing that would explain what happens to Harbridge when exposed to prolonged and fast-paced basketball action.

"He just can't get his breath. When it happens, he has to have water. If he can't get water, he can't breathe and he's just stuck out there."

Gosz has assigned a player, Dave King, to watch Harbridge from the bench for the first sign of a flare up. "As soon as Dave sees it happening, he's ready to take his jacket off," Gosz said.

But King can come into the game only when St Mary's has the ball. When Harbridge was was stricken against Xavier, there was nothing he could do but stand and wait.

Harbridge, a 5-foot-11 athlete who was the most valuable player in both football and basketball last season, fell to his knees and began pointing toward his mouth.

"The referees thought he had fainted or was about to faint," Gosz said.

Harbridge was helped to the bench, given water and rest. He returned to action before intermission, but was rested again in the third period.

Devore Leaves Notre Dame to Join Oiler Staff

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Hugh Devore, 55, assistant athletic director at Notre Dame, was appointed Wednesday an assistant coach of the American Football League's Houston Oilers.

In addition to twice being interim head coach at Notre Dame, Devore has been head coach at Providence College, St. Bonaventure, New York University, Dayton and the Philadelphia Eagles and an assistant at Notre Dame, Fordham, Holy Cross and the Green Bay Packers.

"This has been a most difficult decision," Devore said. "I have always had a great interest in the success of the Notre Dame athletic program but I wanted very much to continue my interest in coaching."

NHL Grants 6 Franchises

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League, spawned in Montreal with four Canadian and no American teams 48 years ago, has moved to within shooting distance of completing its expansion program by granting six new franchises, each to groups representing U.S. cities.

Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Minneapolis-St. Paul were given the green light Wednesday after the NHL's Board of Governors reviewed 13 applications from eight cities during the three-day meetings. In adition, St. Louis received a conditional franchise.

Bids by delegations from Vancouver, B.C., Baltimore and Buffalo were rejected.

The 12-team, two division, coast-to-coast operation is geared to start in October, 1967.

If present plans materialize, 10 of the 12 teams in the projected setup will be based in the United States. The Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs would be the only NHL entries from north of the border.

Subject to Aproval

The awarding of the St Louis franchise is subject to approval of an applicant satisfactory to the board of governors by April 5, 1966. Otherwise, said League President Clarence Campbell, a franchise will be granted to a Baltimore group headed by Zanvyl Kreiger, a major stockholder in the Baltimore Orioles' baseball club.

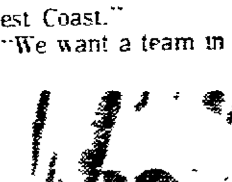
So, this is the way hockey's big league, which has had the same six teams since 1942 when the Brooklyn Americans disbanded, will likely shape up for the start of the 1967-68 campaign:

In one division, New York, Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Toronto and Montreal. In another division, Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, Minneapolis-St. Paul, Pittsburgh and either St Louis or Baltimore.

Each of the new teams will play a 74-game schedule, 50 games against clubs in their division and 24 against those in the present division. The same setup will exist for the current six teams.

"The current NHL is concentrated in the East," Campbell said. "The six new teams will constitute a division that will be well-balanced geographically with two clubs in the East, two in the Midwest and two on the West Coast."

"We want a team in St. Louis because of its geographical location and the fact that it has a suitable building," Campbell said. "But we have received no applications."



Campbell

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the Los Angeles Lakers of the National Basketball Association, was awarded the Los Angeles franchise. He was given the nod over four other groups from that city.

Crosby in Group

George Fleharty, president of the Shasta Corp., which owns the Ice Follies, is the majority stockholder in the San Francisco-Oakland group. Bing Crosby is a member of this group.

The Minneapolis-St. Paul franchise was awarded to an eight-man syndicate which includes television station owners Bob Ridder and Gordon Ritz, and Walter Bush, an attorney.

State Sen. Jack McGregor of Pennsylvania and Art Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, are among the 31 investors in the Pittsburgh operation.

"There will be new rinks in Los Angeles, Minneapolis-St. Paul and Philadelphia," Campbell said. "Their applications were predicated in part on the construction of these new buildings."

The San Francisco-Oakland entry, which it was learned will be called the California Seals, is expected to play in Oakland's Alameda Coliseum, now under construction.

The cost of each new franchise is $2 million and will entitle each group to buy 20 players from the current NHL teams. No plan of allocating the players has been worked out.

(5-8), Wright (5-11), Dave Cole (6-1) and Pat Schmidt (6-0). Joose is durrently seventh in league scoring, Wright is 11th, and Wirt 15th.

Wisconsin Lutheran, took a 74-68 decision from the Foxes early in the season. The Vikings could clinch a third consecutive MPC championship with a win. The Vikings are riding high on the winningest record in the state, (15-0), and the Foxes would like nothing better than to be a spoiler.

In the initial meeting, the Vikings hit at a blistering 53 per cent from the floor. Of their 34 goals, 24 were tallied on layups or very close shots as they broke a full-court press by the Foxes.

Scores 31 Points

In that game, Randy Goede led the Viking attack with 31 points, 20 of which he had in the first half. Teammate Tom Bilitz added 26. Tiedt was high for the Foxes with 23, while Dahlke scored 17 and Ehlke 11.

WLHS starting lineup will include Goede (6-5) at center, Bilitz (6-2) and Jerry Zarr (6-4) at the forwards and John Schwarzl (5-8) and Daryl Raabe (6-1) at the guards.

FVL's starting lineup for the weekend matches is not certain, but will probably include Tom Ehlke at center, Mark Dahlke and Dave Tiedt at the forwards and Alan Olson, Dennis Neumann and Howie Korth or Paul Mueller at the guards.

Tiedt and Dahlke are second and third in MPC scoring. Tiedt although 60 points behind Goede, still sports a 18-9 average with 170 points; while Dahlke has 159 markers for a 17.7 average. Ehlke is 17th with 97 points, for a 10.7 average.

Tiedt has the best free throw percentage among the top 30 in the league, having hit on 46 of 62 (.742). He is also one of the leading shooters from the floor, with 47.7 per cent.

The Foxes are still leading the league in free throw accuracy with a .665 percentage, but meet the two teams that are right behind, WLHS with .645 and Racine with .608.

The Foxes have been averaging 74.1 points per game while giving up 61.3. Wisconsin Lutheran is first in total offense with a 74.1 average while they hold second in defense, allowing their opponents only 59.6 per tilt. Racine Lutheran is equal to the Foxes on offense with 64.2 points a game, but on defense the Crusaders have yielded 72.9 points per contest.

Unbeaten Winneconne will be out to clinch at least a tie for the Little Nine Conference title Friday night when the Wolves go against second-place Omro.

Other games will have Reedsville, which still is entertaining title thoughts, playing at Brillion; Wrightstown will be at Hilbert, Denmark at Freedom and Shiocton at Hortonville.

The Winneconne-Omro battle pits the league's top defensive team meeting the circuit's best offensive squad. Winneconne is averaging 72.2 on offense, but the team's strong point has been defense when foes have been limited to 47.8 per tilt.

Omro has the best offensive average, 79.9 per game, but the Foxes have given up 61.2 a game. Jeff Stang, Omro sharpshooter, is leading the conference in scoring with 282 points, an average of 28.2. season. Pat Garvey and Steve Winter added 14 and 13 points, respectively.

Burly Greg Seibold, the league's top scorer, led Oshkosh with 21—which is just about the average he has maintained through 14 games. Scott Schermetzler and Jim Englund were next with 14 and 13, respectively.

Emanuel used only seven players in Tuesday's surprisingly close game against Southwest. Vaubel, Garvey, Winter, Ron Brinkman and George Hoffman started. Bob Simon and Jon Griffith came off the bench to see considerable service. Juniors Simon, who tallied 18 points Tuesday, and Hoffman shown the most recent improvement on the team.

DePaul Hands Marquette 76-70 Defeat

Warriors never did overtake the Demons although they did creep to within three points, 41-38 by halftime.

Marquette's Paul Carbins, who sat out the opening minutes for the second straight game, came on to take game scoring honors with 27 points. He also hauled in 14 rebounds.

Bob Wolf was next in the scoring parade with 16 points while Tom Flynn had his second bad shooting night. The Warriors' captain managed only nine points before fouling out midway through the second half.

14-4 Record

McGuire was not totally displeased with the loss to the Demons, now 14 - 4. "The boys didn't play a bad game on the road," he said. "In fact, we haven't played a real bad road game this year."

Marquette, which has won only twice on the road all season, returns home for a Saturday match with Air Force.

Lowe, Hadl Win Laurels In the AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Lowe and John Hadl, ringleaders in the San Diego Chargers' explosive offense, are the American Football League's 1965 rushing and passing champions, official AFL season figures confirmed Wednesday.

Lowe, a six-year veteran, captured his first ground-gaining title with a league record of 1,121 yards while Hadl, a four-year pro, succeeded Kansas City's Len Dawson as the passing leader.

Lowe carried 222 times, led the AFL in average gain, 5.05 yards, and touchdowns by rushing, seven, while outdistancing runner-up Cookie Gilchrist of Denver by 167 yards. Gilchrist, the 1964 rushing king, set a league record with 252 carries.

Hadl finished with a 50 per cent completion mark, led the league in yards gained passing with 2,798 and threw for the highest average gain, 8.04 yards. He completed 174 of 248 tosses, hitting for 20 touchdowns.

Celtics Open 3-Game Lead

Chamberlain Has 30 Points, Nears Record by Pettit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Less than two weeks ago, the Boston Celtics were out of first place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Today they hold a three-game edge over Cincinnati and Philadelphia, and they indicate the margin may grow bigger.

The Celtics trimmed New York 121-117 Wednesday night, snapping the Knicks' four-game winning streak. In other games, Philadelphia rolled past Detroit 108-91 and Los Angeles outlasted Baltimore 123-116 in overtime.

The Celtics' victory was their sixth in the last eight games and boosted their lead over idle Cincinnati to three games. Philadelphia remained three back.

Mel Counts sparked the Boston triumph, scoring 18 points and grabbing nine rebounds in just 16 minutes of play. With New York threatening in the final quarter, the 7-footer came off the bench and scored six straight points for a 108-99 Celtics' lead.

Six Celtics scored 15 points or better with Bill Russell leading the group with 20. Dick Barnett had 32 for the Knicks.

Wilt Chamberlain poured in 30 points as Philadelphia downed Detroit. He now needs only 98 points to equal Bob Pettit's all-time NBA scoring record of 20,880.

Radio Man Testifies

Says He Heard in '63 of Braves' Moving Plans

MILWAUKEE Wis. (AP) — A Milwaukee radio executive said he heard reports the Braves were planning to move to another city while he was attempting to find a sponsor for the Braves' broadcasts before the 1963 season.

Andrew M. Spheeris, president and general manager of radio station WEMP, said he considered the reports preposterous at the time.

The Braves did not announce their plan to transfer to Atlanta until after the 1964 season.

Spheeris was one of 16 persons who gave depositions Wednesday as a preliminary to the trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against the Braves and the National League. The trial is scheduled to begin Feb. 28 in Circuit Court, Milwaukee.

Spheeris said his station purchased the broadcasting rights for the 1963 season for $325,000 but could sell them to a sponsor for no more than $297,000.

He blamed the late time (February, 1963) the rights were acquired for the loss, saying that most of the major advertising agencies advised him their budgets for 1963 had already been made out.

'Factor of Continuity'

Spheeris also said that two representatives of cigaret companies had questioned "the factor of continuity — the Braves staying in Milwaukee.

"They didn't tell me the basis or these stories," he said. "It was a preposterous story at the time and I paid no attention to it."

Defense lawyers repeatedly asked witnesses questions on the role of Louis Oberdorfer, a former Justice Department attorney, in consultations before the suit was filed.

Allan (Bud) Selig, president of Milwaukee Brewers Inc., the group seeking a replacement team for the Braves acknowledged he had been at two meetings that Oberdorfer also attended. "Did the meetings have to do with the pending litigation?" he was asked.

On advice of counsel, Selig declined to answer.

Ben Barkin, a Milwaukee public relations man, was asked whether Oberdorfer had prepared a legal opinion prior to the suit.

"I don't remember," Barkin said. "I know it has been said that there is such an opinion."

John A. Puelicher, president of the Marshall and Ilsley Bank, Milwaukee, said the Braves had repaid a $1.5 million loan within about four months in 1965.

A deposition was scheduled to be taken today from State Atty. Gen. Bronson LaFollette but state lawyers protested the defense plan Wednesday.

Waupaca Area Roads State's Deadliest for Deer; 786 Die in 1965

MADISON (AP) — Motorists killed an estimated 9,360 deer in Wisconsin last year, the state conservation department reported Wednesday.

Waupaca County was the most dangerous area for the animals. A total of 786 deer, almost two a day, were struck down by motor vehicles.

Win Sets Stage For Battle With Stout Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Oshkosh has come up with a secret weapon and the Titans may need it Saturday when they fight for their life against front-running Stout in the Wisconsin State University Conference basketball race.

Hayek, a freshman, only scored 16 points in the Titans' 72 - 64 win over Whitewater Wednesday night but he scored 14 of them when they were needed most—in the last eight minutes.

The Warhawks were only two points down at 50-48 when Hayek began his jump shot barrage and left them still looking for their first conference win in 12 games. Whitewater is 1-16 over all.

Cold Shooting

Oshkosh, 10 - 2 in the league and 13-5 over all, had to win because Stout was having little trouble disposing of River Falls, 66 - 52, despite a cold shooting night.

The Bluedevils won on rebounding with Jerry Kissman hauling down 24 to spark the win. The victory gave Stout an 11-1 record in WSUC play and a 15 - 3 mark against all foes. River Falls is 4-8 and 8-9.

In other games Wednesday night, Jim Sevals scored 22 points to lead Superior to a 109-80 victory over Northland in a non-conference game, Bob Guy sparked Lakeland to a 107 - 96 victory in double overtime over St. Norbert, and North Central downed Carroll 95-67 in a College Conference of Illinois battle at Waukesha.

Guy hit a fantastic 9 of 10 free throws in the second overtime period to break the back of St. Norbert, now 10 - 11. Guy finished the night with 28 points, second to Gary Hovey who scored 34 for Lakeland, now 13-7.

Sevals, Superior's mighty mite, helped his improving team to a breakaway lead early in the second half. The score at halftime was 44-43 in favor of Northland, now 1-16 for the season. Superior is 7-8.

Xavier Duels Marinette '5'

The Zephyrs won, 75-64, the first time around.

Marinette has consistently given Xavier more trouble than any other FVCC team. Typically, the Cavaliers ran up a 12 points lead (25-13) on Xavier here in January before the Hawks righted themselves to come away with a 62-54 victory. Marinette is the only conference club to beat the Hawks twice since Xavier became a 4-year school. The Cavaliers did it in a 1961-2 FVCC game and beat Xavier in the '64 state Catholic championship game.

The coaching duel between Xavier's "Torcy" Clark and Marinette's Marty Crowe has perhaps become the most hotly-contested in FVCC basketball. Clark's string of successes is unparalleled in FVCC history, while the wily Crowe's teams are always respected because of their unpredictability and disciplined play.

Averaging 17-5

Leading the Marinette offense is Rocky Slawinsky, the second best scorer in the FVCC. His is averaging 17.5 points a game—which is topped only by the 19.3 pace of St. Mary's Mike Gage. In the first Xavier game, Slawinsky was held to 11 points but Steve Seguin came through with his career high of 20 points. For the season, he is averaging 10.9.

Xavier's top marksmen, Gene Jack and Mike Heideman, rank fourth and fifth in the circuit with 16.6 and 15.9-point averages, respectively.

Jack and Heideman are expected to start Saturday, along with Paul Rechner, who recovered his scoring eye with 15 points Sunday, Don Hurley and the defensively-tough Tom Heinritz. Steve Schmieder saw extensive backcourt service in the key Pennings game while Dan Hardy, Terry Grant and Pat Fitzgerald were also called on for spot assignments.

Allie Sherman Wins Sportsman's Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Allie Sherman, coach of the New York Giants, was named Wednesday as the recipient of the Catholic Youth Organization's sportsman of the year award.

The award, a silver plaque, is given in memory of John V. Mara, late owner of the Giants, who was a long-time member of the CYO board of directors.

13-Game Loss Streak Snapped By Notre Dame

St. John's Edges Temple in Double Overtime, 75-72

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a night to remember for the Irish of Notre Dame and the Redmen of St. John's University in college basketball. The Irish snapped a 13-game losing streak and the Redmen won in Philadelphia for the first time in seven years.

Notre Dame's first victory since Dec. 15 when the Irish downed Bowling Green was a decisive 84-61 home decision over Butler Wednesday night. Led by Jim Monahan's 19 points, the Irish opened a 12-0 lead and had little trouble winning their fourth game against 15 defeats.

In contrast, the Redmen from New York had to go two overtimes for a 75-72 squeaker over Temple. It was St. John's first victory in the Palestra at Philadelphia since Jan. 6, 1959.

Closing Seconds

Bob McIntyre's basket in the closing seconds of regulation time tied the score for St. John's at 61-61 after Sonny Dove prevented a possible winning lay-up by Temple's Jim Williams by knocking the ball out of bounds.

Williams' two free throws gave Temple a 65-65 tie at the end of the first overtime. But with five seconds left in the second extra period and St. John's ahead 73-72, he missed twice from the foul line. In the last seconds Temple's Chris Kefalos fouled Henry Cluess who made good on two free throws for St. John's final points.

Clarence Brookins of Temple was high scorer with 26 points. Dove topped St. John's with 24 while McIntyre got 21. The game was part of a doubleheader. Lafayette beat LaSalle 93-81 in the opener.

The Providence Friars and the St. Joseph's Hawks of Philadelphia, the only teams in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, each won handily. Back at home, after Sunday's upset defeat by Duquesne, the sixth-ranked Friars whipped Fairfield 74-62 behind Jim Benedict's 25 points. The eight - ranked Hawks crushed Seton Hall 110-64, the worst home-court defeat ever suffered by the Pirates.

Taylor and Alworth Win AFL Pass-Catching Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Sure-handed Lionel Taylor of the Denver Broncos and mercurial Lance Alworth of the San Diego Chargers grabbed the lion's share of pass receiving laurels in the American Football League last season.

Taylor snared the receiving title for the fifth time in six years while Alworth set the pace in yardage and tied for the most touchdowns among the league's pass catchers.

Field goal ace Pete Gogolak of Buffalo and punt return king Leslie Duncan of San Diego also were officially crowned today with the release of certified final AFL statistics. Both smashed league records in their specialties during the 1965 season.

Taylor, who lost the receiving crown to Houston's Charlie Hennigan in 1964, regained it with a 14-game total of 85 catches. The Broncos' tight end has caught 508 passes for 6,247 yards and 43 touchdowns in his six-year AFL tenure.

Has 14 TD Catches

Alworth traveled 1,602 yards with his 69 receptions and tied Don Maynard of New York for the most touchdown catches with 14. The San Diego flanker's yardage total was the second highest in AFL history, Hennigan having gained 1,746 yards in 1961.

Gogolak, a soccer-style kicker, booted 28 field goals, breaking the AFL record set by Gene Mingo of Denver four years ago by one. Gogolak was successful on 60.9 per cent of his 46 field goal attempts, the longest a 47-yarder.

Duncan, like Gogolak a second-year pro, returned 30 punts for a record 464 yards, averaging 15.5 per runback. Oakland's Claude Gibson set the old mark of 419 yards in 1964.

Terror JVs Gain Season's 10th Victory

The Appleton High School junior varsity basketball team, with only two regulars in the lineup, battled their way to a 47-44 victory over Green Bay Southwest here Tuesday night.

The John Graff-coached Junior Terrors, whose Fox Valley JV Conference record now stands at 10-4, invade Oshkosh Friday night.

Reserve guard Ade Dillon, Jr., led the victory over Southwest, with 14 points. Duane Van Handel and Bill Stroess added 13 and nine, respectively.

Van Handel and George Mills, Jr., were the only AHS starters available. Tom Hintz and Rick Stach are on the injured list, and Bob Meyer is ineligible.

The Junior Terrors still have a mathematical title chance since first-place Manitowoc suffered its first loss last weekend —a 75-72 overtime decision to Sheboygan South.

M-E Champions Are Hosts

4 Leagues Represented In New London's Regional Mat Meet

BY ROGER FITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

NEW LONDON — Ten Fox Cities area high schools will be fighting for regional wrestling honors here Friday and Saturday as the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association begins its annual elimination of wrestlers to determine the top 12 individuals.

Four conferences will have teams in the competition. New London will represent the Mid-Eastern Circuit as its champion, while Hortonville is the Little Nine titlist. Other M-E entrants are Neenah, Menasha and Clintonville. Central Wisconsin schools represented are Manawa, Marion, Iola-Scandinavia and Weyauwega. Seymour, of the northeastern Wisconsin, will be the other entry.

Menasha's Dan Lingnofski won the M-E heavyweight title and holds a 16-1 mark using WIAA records of Feb. 1 and conference championship match figures. Pete Wachtendonk, Seymour, 10-5, Rick Bondow, Neenah, 9-4 and Bill Zimmerman, Marion, 7-3 are expected to put on a strong challenge.

Has 14-1-1 Mark

New London's Dave Meyer, with a 14-1-1 mark has the most impressive credentials going into 183-pound competition. He is the M-E titlist. Ken Meyer, Hortonville, is Little Nine champ with 12-4-1. Jim Stueck, Clintonville, 8-2-1 and Roger Boree, Weyauwega 11-3.

Neenah's Mike Milliken and Seymour's Don Jochman own the most impressive marks in the 168-pound bracket, with 8-2 and 14-3 respectively. Marion's Jerry Steinke took the CWC title and is 8-1.

Manawa's Tom Griffin will be favored to take the 157-weight class on the strength of a 14-0-1 record and the CWC title. Gary Hooyman, Seymour, will rate the top challenger spot with a 14-3 mark. Mike Marasch, New London, 7-6; Bob Pawelkiewicz, Menasha, 6-3, and Dick Opperman, I-S, 5-5, will also be in the running.

The M-E's top 148-pounder, New London's Bruce Schoen, will be a slight favorite to take his division. He will take a 7-0-1 record into battle. Two other titlists, Hortonville's Pete Bohman, 16-1-1 and Paul Isaccson, I-S, 8-5, will be in the running.

Mike LeGault, Neenah, the runner-up in the M-E 141-pound competition will go into the regional holding a 12-3 record. Gene Bosin, 9-5-1, took the Little Nine title for Hortonville. Bill Opperman owns a 9-1 record with I-S but did not wrestle in the CWC matches.

Captures Title

Gary Hass made an impressive showing in capturing the CWC 136-pound division and upping his Manawa High School record to 15-0. Tom Becher, Hortonville, 9-4, Jerry Krahn, Seymour, 8-5-3, Jim Hartfiel, Weyauwega, 6-3-2, and Jim Mallet, New London, 10-3-1 are top threats.

New London's Jay Larsen at 130 will be the only conference winner entered in that weight division. Ron Mueller, Seymour, at 12-4-1 owns a decision over Larsen, however. Hortonville's Tom Menning is 10-5 and the only other entrant in the class to win over half his matches.

An almost unbeatable quartet will head the competition. Dale Hodkiewicz, Seymour, 10-1-1, Gordon Huettl, Hortonville, 15-3-1; John Flanagan, Manawa, 12-1, and Bob Brockman, Neenah, 14-0 will vie for the title. Brockman was the M-E winner and Huettl the Little Nine champion.

Seymour's Dick Dunks (18-0) is the NEW champion and the prime choice among coaches to take the 115-pound title. Larry Fietzer, Manawa, 9-5, took the CWC title.

The 106-pound battles will be packed with excitement as a number of wrestlers will be out to improve their season records. Marion's Keith Kitzman is just 6-0, but the CWC champ, Frank Schroeder, Hortonville, 8-3-1; Gregg Morgan, Menasha, 9-6, and Larry Klepps, Manawa, 9-6 are all in the running.

Jim Crain, 11-0, captured the 98-pound title for New London in Mid East wrestling and Steve Becher matched the feat for Hortonville in the Little Nine by posting a 15-1 slate. Neenah's Darwin Westphal is 6-2 and given an excellent shot at taking the title.

Elimination and quarter final matches will be held Friday. The first round pairings will be determined 6 p.m. Friday when coaches and officials meet.

The opening whistle is to blow at 7 p.m. initiating about 10 hours of week end grunt and groaning.

The semi-finals are to start at 2 p.m. Saturday and the wrestle backs and finals at 7 p.m.

Biff Buff

"This is one of the saddest folk songs I ever heard. It's about Herb Stynski who got up at 5 a.m., shot a 220-yard hole-in-1 -- and there was nobody there to see him."

Young Democrats To Hear Nelson At State Parley

Senator Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) will be the keynote speaker March 25 at the annual state convention of Young Democrats at Manitowoc.

According to Young Democrat oficers, the subject of Viet Nam will be discussed at the convention. Nelson recently stated that the continual escalation of the war has been a "tragic mistake." He also questioned the policy of the U.S. in relation to the possibility of a land war involving China.

Last September, the state executive board of the Young Democrats adopted a resolution urging the government to escalate no further, use more social and economic aid, and strive to get out as fast as possible.

The resolution was adopted after the Milwaukee members, who supported President Johnson's policy, had left the meeting.

The platform for the Young Democrats will be drafted March 27, and Nelson's views on Viet Nam are expected to have some effect in shaping the final form.

Olivier's 'Othello' Stalks Screen in Filmed London Play

Technical Work Applauded in Stage-Based Version of Classic

BY JAMES AUER
Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

Laurence Olivier's "Othello," proud and passionate, virile and vulnerable, stalked the screen of the Viking Theatre Wednesday as Warner Bros. presented a Technicolor and Panavision picturization of the National Theatre of Great Britain production.

Deliberately conceived, in Olivier's own words, as "a film of a performance" rather than as a conventional motion picture, "Othello" represents an outstanding opportunity for Fox Cities theatergoers to see an excellent cast bring alive a familiar classic of Shakespearean literature.

Thanks to Geoffery Unsworth's unobtrusive color and widescreen camera work, and Jocelyn Herbert's highly photogenic settings and costumes, this film-of-a-play emerges as a technical achievement of a far higher level than the Electronovision production of Richard Burton's "Hamlet."

Accomplished Players

If nothing else, Olivier's "Othello," like the 1914 motion picture version of Sarah Bernhardt's "Queen Elizabeth," will serve to acquaint future generations with the work of one of the 20th Century's more accomplished players.

It may come as a shock to some members of the audience to discover that Olivier's characterization of the gulled Othello — ardent lover, trusted soldier, part nobleman, part savage — comes closer to Ossie Davis's portrayal of the "new" Negro in "The Hill," than to the conventional stage conception of the tragically misled Moor.

Strong and self-aware, magnetic and emancipated (except from the shackles of his own pride and jealousy), this "Othello" might well be a cabinet minister of an emerging African nation. It is undoubtedly a harbinger of future re-analysis of Shakespeare's heroes, in the light of present-day psychology and ideology.

All this is not to say, however, that "Othello," in this three-hour screen version, is as successful as a motion picture as it is on its own terms, as a film-of-a-play.

Extended Close-Ups

The extended close-ups tend to expose the mechanics of Olivier's portrayal — the glistening make-up, the posturing, the histrionic gestures —and the persistent (if necessary) emphasis upon the spoken word rather than the screen image tends to produce visual monotony.

It struck this reviewer as more than little ironic that Olivier, who earlier directed extremely filmic productions of "Henry V," "Hamlet" and "Richard III," should climax his screen career by appearing in a version of "Othello" that fails in large measure to make use of the great visual sources of the motion picture medium.

The producers of "Othello" have, however, succeeded within their own self-imposed limitations, and Olivier's portrayal, as preserved in this film, will probably be recognized as a landmark in stage characterizations for years to come.

"Othello" will be given its final performance at the Viking Theatre at 8 p.m. today.

Gov. Knowles Urges Early Date for Dairy Price Support Levels

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced at his press conference Wednesday that he has urged U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to move forward the April 1 date scheduled for the establishment of new dairy price support levels, the raising of the new levels, and their application to state dairy farmers as soon as possible.

Wisconsin's dairy farmers, caught in a cost-price squeeze, are leaving the farms in ever increasing numbers, according to Knowles. He revealed that in the last four months the number of dairy herds in the state has dropped 2,000 to 77,000. Knowles also backed a bill introduced by Sen. Gaylord Nelson which would allow flexible dairy price supports.

Chrysler Acts As Market Drag

Automobile Firm's Per Share Earnings Drop Below 1965

NEW YORK (AP)—Weakness in Chrysler was a drag on the stock market early this afternoon as the list faltered in another attempt at reaching the "magic" level of 1,000 in the Dow Jones' industrial average.

The list was moving ahead on balance when Chrysler reported that although its 1965 earnings were higher than in 1964 the per-share earnings dropped because there were more shares outstanding.

Chrysler fell more than 2 points and the rest of the auto group was ragged.

Airlines were higher. Some profit taking caused irregularity among the aeroepace and electronics groups.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 368.1 with industrials up .1, rails up 1.0 and utilities off .3.

Merck was delayed in opening and spurted 3 to 73 on a block of 12,200 shares early in the afternoon.

Off-Season Vacations Will Save You Money

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are pla[illegible] a week's skiing vacation this [illegible] save 20 per cent [illegible] hotel [illegible] by [illegible] season [illegible]

Porter

[illegible] starts May [illegible] can [illegible] pay [illegible] cents a [illegible] income [illegible] summer against [illegible] a week and [illegible] cents a [illegible] same car this March or next October.

Barbados Rates

If Barbados is your choice you pay $60 a day for a double room at one major resort hotel this month. In April the same double room at the same hotel will cost you $76.

The cost of a three-week package tour of eight European countries falls from a maximum of $967 in June through August to $725 in off-season March through April. The one-way tourist fare from New York to Southampton on a leading steamship line declines from a minimum of $246 in the peak season to $215.50 in the thrift season.

The se[illegible] a few illustra[illegible] the increasing [illegible] significant fact that [illegible] your vacation can by [illegible] vacation cost [illegible] as 50 per cent or even [illegible]

[illegible] season. You can save additional amounts on hotel rooms, on restaurant bills, on car rental or local transportation or entertainment. Off-season weather in many resort areas is more [illegible] than in-season weather. Certainly you'll be [illegible] subjected to [illegible] irritation [illegible] crowd [illegible] standing in long lines [illegible] cutting [illegible] techniques apply to holidays taken in off season as well as those taken at other times and these can reduce your bills even further.

Flight Bargains

You can for instance travel on charter flights if you have been a member of a club sponsoring a charter flight for six months or more. You can travel on family air fares in which the husband pays full fare and other family members pay half. You can, within specified Internal Revenue Service rules, get income tax advantages from combination business pleasure trips.

The key force behind the growing trend toward off season vacations is the willingness of an overwhelming majority of the nation's employers to permit employes to take vacations at just about any time. Today, according to a National Industrial Conference Board survey, only one of four U S manufacturing companies specify when employes may or may not take vacations against one in two as recently as 1956. Of those who specify a vacation time, many stretch this period to 10-11 months out of the year.

Split Vacations

A second key force is the tendency toward split vacations. Today 90 per cent of white collar employers and 83 per cent of blue collar employers allow split vacations. This also represents a huge leap over the proportion allowing split vacations in previous years.

What these trends mean to rising millions of "ordinary" vacationers is that they can plan bigger and longer vacations, can afford to take along more members of the family — or can take two holidays a year of instead of one.

What they mean to the once widely seasonal vacation industries is mounting economic stability. To the millions directly or indirectly dependent on these industries, a dream is coming ture.

Red Missiles Hit U. S. Navy Plane In North Viet Nam

Ground War With Viet Cong Withers; Report Small Actions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Army troops came under withering Communist fire today near Saigon and in the coastal ricelands. Over North Viet Nam a pair of Soviet-made missiles knocked a Navy jet out of the sky.

The brace of surface-to-air missiles hit the Navy A4 Skyhawk during a raid Wednesday on Hon Mat Island, 53 miles south of the North Vietnamese coastal city of Thanh Hoa, a U.S. spokesman reported. The pilot bailed out over the South China Sea and was rescued by a helicopter from the guided-missile frigate England.

The loss of the jet fighter-bomber was the first attributed to missiles since the United States ended the 37-day bombing pause on Jan. 31. Navy and Air Force planes kept up the heavy schedule of attacks on the Communist North, hitting bridges, trucks and railroad box cars.

Intense Fire

Pilots reported intense antiaircraft fire, which American military officials saw as proof of their warnings that the North Vietnamese would strengthen their air defenses during the suspension of raids.

The heaviest action on the ground broke out near Cu Chi, 25 miles west of Saigon, when a large number of Viet Cong snipers and mortar men rose like jacks-in-the-box from camouflaged openings in the huge tunnel complex in the area.

They poured heavy fire on two companies of the U. S. 25th Division who recently established positions in the area. The fighting broke out almost within hailing distance of their headquarter's area.

Little Success

Army helicopters fired rockets at suspected Communist mortar positions, but it appeared they did not have much success. The Viet Cong apparently pulled back into their tunnels, which run for miles and

Two Writers Go on Trial In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet writers went on trial today for their anti-Soviet works published abroad but refused to plead guilty.

The trial has become the Soviet Union's most important literary case since Boris Pasternak was forced to refuse the Nobel Prize in 1958.

Andrei D. Sinyavsky, a leading critic and lecturer, and Yuli M. Daniel, a translator and critic, were charged with writing anti-Soviet propaganda under the pseudonyms of Abram Tertz and Nikolai Arzhak, respectively.

Western newsmen were barred from the trial, but Moscow Radio said Sinyavsky and Daniel both pleaded not guilty.

The report of the trial by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, indicated that their conviction was a certainty. They could be sentenced to seven years in prison and five years exile to Siberia.

Threaten Strike After Rioting in Santo Domingo

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Labor leaders and left-wing extremists threatened a general strike today after seven persons were killed and at least 22 injured in day-long rioting in Santo Domingo.

Leftist labor and political leaders charged the police with brutality in the violence touched off by a Communist-led student demonstration Wednesday. They also renewed demands for the quick removal from the country of armed forces leaders who have failed to obey a presidential order assigning them to diplomatic jobs abroad.

The two leading moderate leftist parties, the Revolutionary Social Christians and Juan Bosch's Dominican Revolutionary party were expected to support a strike. Three previous calls for a general strike collapsed because the two parties failed to support it.

Official sources expressed concern that a successful strike would torpedo negotiations now under way between President Hector Garcia-Godoy and the armed forces leaders on conditions for their departure. No agreement had been reached by Wednesday night, the sources said.

Senate Again Refuses To End 14B Filibuster

Mansfield Says Bill Will be Put Aside for Remainder of '66 Session

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate declined again today to choke off the filibuster against the union shop bill and thus apparently killed the measure for this Congress.

On Tuesday the senate had rejected cloture by a 51-48 tally, 15 less than the required two-thirds.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said that with this failure on the second test he was putting aside the bitterly disputed legislation for the remainder of the 1966 session.

He said it would remain on the senate calendar but "with the words R.I.P. (rest in peace) beside it."

The bill could be called up again later but even its hardiest backers saw little or no chance of success.

House Passed Bill

But Senate Democratic leaders now have tried twice to get the bill up for debate and never have been able even to win a vote on the preliminary motion to consider it.

The Senate outcome represented a defeat for President Johnson and even more for the AFL-CIO, which had placed the repealer at the top of its legislative program. The 14B section permits states to ban labor contracts which require all covered workers to join the union or at least pay dues.

Led by Dirksen

Mansfield first sought to get consideration for the measure last October after it had won 221-203 approval from the House.

But then, as now, a tightly knit filibuster prevented even a vote on the preliminary motion to bring the bill before the Senate.

Both filibusters were directed by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and joined by most Republicans and some Southern Democrats.

Senate Okays Permanent Veteran Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate passed and sent back to the House today the "cold war GI bill" establishing a permanent program of education and other benefits for veterans who serve more than six months. The vote was 99-0.

The Senate accepted nearly all changes made by the House in a senate measure first passed last July.

The chief effect of the changes was to cut back somewhat the education allowances of the Senate version.

However, the Senate made one change which required that the bill go back to the House.

It was an amendment designed to make it clear that veterans who have not graduated from high school would be eligible for the monthly education payments. The House was expected to agree to this change promptly and send the bill to President Johnson.

Chicago Blaze Kills Three Youngsters

CHICAGO (AP)—Three young children, one celebrating his birthday, were killed Wednesday night in a fire touched off by a short circuit.

The victims were Robert Conway Jr., 4; and his stepbrothers, Jeffrey DeCamp, 3, and Billy DeCamp, 16 months.

Jeffrey's third birthday was Wednesday.

Fire Chief James Conte said the fire was caused by a short circuit in a wire running under Billy's crib in a rear bedroom. The infant was burned to death and the other youths suffocated in a front bedroom of the four-room basement apartment, Conte said.

Conte said Mrs. Arlene Conway was visiting her husband, Robert, in the Hines Veterans Hospital, where he is a patient.

Maine Legislature Hopes to Abolish No Smoking Rule

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Maine may soon free its women legislators of the duty of lighting the smoking lamps.

A committee of the State House of Representatives has proposed that the House scrap the daily ritual that permits smoking during the sessions.

House Rule 25, instituted two years ago apparently as a courtesy to the ladies, prohibits smoking.

So, by tradition, a woman member rises at the beginning of each session and moves for suspension of the rule.

Applause follows, the motion is passed, and the smokers light up.

Humphrey Arrives in Saigon To Study Possible Programs

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey arrived in Saigon today to spur the South Vietnamese to get on with a social and economic revolution which he said would provide a "dynamic and lasting answer to the false promise of communism."

"I have come to see some of the projects being undertaken and to report back to the President and the American people on the work you are doing and on the part we can play in support of your great undertaking," Humphrey said in a statement at Saigon's heavily guarded Tan Son Nhut Airport.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and chief of state Nguyen Van Thieu flew with Humphrey from Honolulu after meeting there with President Johnson. Humphrey did not attend the Honolulu conference, but came here on the President's request to advance the nonmilitary programs outlined there.

Social Programs

Humphrey told newsmen aboard his plane that the military situation in South Viet Nam had improved to a point "that rural construction, economic and social programs can take place."

"We know that victories on the battlefield are not enough," he said. "We want to consolidate those victories" with economic and social progress.

A big crowd of Vietnamese military and civilian dignitaries greeted the vice president and 150mm howitzers and five tanks were lined up on the air strip opposite a Vietnamese honor guard.

Heavy security was in effect and the normally busy airport was closed to civilian traffic for more than an hour before Humphrey's plane landed. Roadblocks and checkpoints were thrown up around the field.

During his flight of nearly 15 hours from Honolulu, broken only by a 90-minute fuel stop on Guam, Humphrey received a stream of specialists in his cabin.

He told newsmen he was getting briefings on aid, health, information and other U.S. programs on the plane so that he can make full use of his time seeing things for himself.

Committee Hearing

Former U. S. Official Advises Ending War

WASHINGTON (AP)—George F. Kennan, a former State Department strategist on cold war, told senators investigating U.S. Asian policy today the administration should "liquidate" military involvement in Viet Nam just as soon as this can be done.

Kennan, a former ambassador to Moscow, said this should take place as soon as it can be done "without inordinate damage to our own prestige or to the stability in conditions in that area."

But Kennan cautioned in testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "precipitate and disorderly withdrawal could represent in our present circumstances a disservice to our own interests and even to world peace greater than any that might have been involved in our failure to engage ourselves in the first place."

Grave Misgivings

On the other hand, Kennan said he has "grave misgivings about any deliberate expansion of hostilities on our part directed to achievement of something called 'victory.'"

Kennan is the latest witness to be summoned before the committee in pursuit of its stated aim to clarify confusion and apprehension about the U.S. policy in Viet Nam and in Asia generally.

From 1947 to 1949 Kennan was chairman of the State Department's Policy Planning Committee. He is widely regarded as the father of the containment policy.

In advance of his appearance before the committee today, two Democratic senators said attacks on President Johnson's Southeast Asia policies are encouraging the Communists to continue the Viet Nam War.

Hanoi Encouraged

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said he is convinced that what is keeping North Viet Nam from the negotiations table "is the conviction that we'll tire and quit." He said this belief is being bolstered by senatorial criticism of the President's actions and objectives.

Show Business Giants

Sophie Tucker, Billy Rose Die

NEW YORK (AP) — Death has come to two of the best-known entertainers from a bygone era, master showman Billy Rose and Sophie Tucker, "last of the red-hot mamas."

The two show business giants, whose careers were born in the days of vaudeville, died of illnesses within hours of each other.

After 62 years of belting out songs, big, brassy-voiced Miss Tucker, [illegible] died Wednesday night in her Park Avenue apartment of a chronic lung ailment and kidney failure.

Rose, millionaire showman who made his fortune from extravaganzas, curvaceous girls and the stock market, died at 66 early today in Montego Bay, Jamaica, of lobar pneumonia.

Heart Surgery

He had come to Montego Bay, where he maintains a winter home, to recuperate from heart surgery performed in Houston, Tex., in [illegible].

Rose was an impresario, theatrical producer, newspaper columnist, nightclub owner and writer of such songs as "That Old Gang of Mine," "Without A Song," and "Me and My Shadow."

Worth more than $25 million at his death, he made his first million three months after his water

It was in such nightclubs and cabarets that a song written by a porter, "Some of These Days," became the trademark of Sophie Tucker.

Every Performance

She belted it out at every performance, whether she was doing the blues, jazz or swing.

Her last appearance was at the Latin Quarter just before she became ill. She had signed for a four-week engagement but was able to appear only two nights, and on both nights it was clear that she was in poor health.

She spent several weeks at Mount Sinai Hospital for treatment of what her physician described as an intestinal inflammation. She returned to her apartment where she was reported recovering.

From the time she was a teen-ager Sophie had been a performer.

No Regrets

Asked if she had any regrets and if she would have preferred life in the kitchen, she said: "I

Food for Freedom

Johnson Proposes 'War on Hunger'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson proposed to Congress today a food for freedom program to "lead the world in a war against hunger."

Abandoning the idea of our giving only surplus foods, he ordered increased production of some U.S. crops, chiefly rice and soybeans, to help meet overseas needs.

He called for a major international effort including increased assistance from the United States and keyed to self-help from the developing countries, where hunger is one of the major problems.

To help meet world needs, Johnson ordered a 10 per cent increase in the nation's 1966 acreage allotment for rice to meet what he called unprecedented demands brought on by drought and war in Asia.

Dairy Products

He authorized the secretary of agriculture to buy limited amounts of dairy products to meet demands at home and abroad, where milk from U. S. farms is made available to millions of poor children.

And he announced that he will take action to increase soybean production in 1966.

The President called for increased capital and technical assistance to foreign countries, but he emphasized that this aid [illegible] be accompanied by a maximum effort on the part of those who receive it.

Calling for an end to the idea of providing only surplus foods, he said "current farm programs are eliminating the surpluses in our warehouses. Fortunately the same programs are flexible enough to gear our farm production to amounts that can be used constructively."

Even with maximum efforts among the needy nations, Johnson said, "our food aid will be needed for many years to come."

And eventually, he said, as their own economies improve, "increased purchasing power among the hundreds of millions of consumers in developing countries will help them become good customers of the American farmer."

Candace Lived With Nephew, Landlady Says

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Candace Mossler was said by a state witness today to have moved into an apartment with her nephew, Melvin Land Powers, posing as his fiancee.

The witness, Mrs. Jerry (Dino) Thompson, testified that she rented them the apartment in Houston in early October 1965 — eight months before the slaying in Miami of Mrs. Mossler's millionaire husband Jacques.

Powers and his aunt are on trial, charged with Mossler's slaying. The state has called them lovers.

Apple Creek School Site Impresses Committeeman

Pommerening, Chairman of UW Selection Group, Says Area Most Suitable in Fox Cities

BY DAVE NOWAK
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The chairman of the State Site Selection Committee which visited the Fox Cities Tuesday to tour the four Outagamie County sites for the northeastern branch of the University of Wisconsin said he was most impressed with the Apple Creek site.

Assemblyman Glen Pommerening (R-Wauwatosa), told the Post-Crescent that the Apple Creek site appeared to be more suitable than the other three Fox Cities sites primarily because of the rolling terrain.

Pommerening, who made the remarks after a dinner meeting which concluded the committee's inspection of the Fox Cities, said he was speaking as an individual and not for the site selection committee.

The committee, after touring sites for a new university in southeastern Wisconsin, will return to Madison where it will deliberate until the week of Feb. 21, when it will make its recommendation.

The committee's recommendation will be submitted to the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education, Gov. Warren Knowles and the State Building Commission for their concurrence.

The four Outagamie County sites are:

Kaukauna Site

While committee members were reluctant to comment on their opinions regarding the four Fox Cities sites, the Apple Creek site evoked the most interest and questioning. Availability of utility services, mass transportation and adequate zoning controls were some of the aspects committee members, particularly Dr. [illegible], were interested in.

At a dinner meeting Tuesday evening at the Conway Hotel the Fox Cities Education Committee made a brief formal presentation of the reasons why the university should be located in the area.

Membership Campaign Dinner Feb. 24

New London C of C Plans to Apply for 'Alice' Contest

NEW LONDON — The Chamber of Commerce Wednesday voted to apply for the regional "Alice in Dairyland" contest.

The group's action was the first taken by any area city in seeking a 1966 regional contest. New London had sought the contest a year ago and was host to it four years ago.

Norman Hanson, membership chairman, said a kickoff membership drive dinner has been scheduled for Feb. 24 at the Legion Club. A number of chamber members will be invited to the meeting for an explanation of the "Fair Share" dues plan and will be included in the force which will make the city-wide membership drive, Hanson said.

The drive is expected to be made by about 50 chamber members who attend the dinner. It will be conducted soon after the meeting, Hanson said.

A committee consisting of W. A. Bender, president; Harry Emans, executive secretary; Hanson; Robert Christ, finance chairman, and the assistant finance and membership chairmen will screen the fair share dues returns. Any not believed to be accurate will be brought before the board of directors for further screening.

Hire Secretary

Emans was authorized to hire a part-time secretary to work in the chamber office so regular hours can be established. Office hours of 9 a.m. to noon were suggested.

Mel Jungerberg, publicity chairman, said plans were to print a monthly bulletin to inform people of chamber activities. He suggested that the bulletin start by listing the changes that have taken place in the city during the past five years.

Another change in chamber procedure was the listing of bills and printing of minutes prior to meetings so they could be dispensed with saving about 15 minutes time for action items. Bills and minutes would be sent to directors with meeting notices and possible agendas.

CESA 8 Board Hikes Teacher Pay Schedule

Beginning Salary Scale Set at $5,880-6,200; Higher for Work in More Than One District

A salary schedule for teachers who will be hired for the 1966-67 school year by Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8 was adopted Wednesday by the board of control.

Under this plan a beginning teacher can start at a salary from $5,880 to $6,200. About $600 has been added to the scale for teachers who have extra responsibility of teaching in two districts; $800 for three districts and $1,000 for four districts.

Teacher Shortages

"The scale might seem a little steep," Harland Kirchner, chairman of the committee, said, "but we had to take into consideration that there are extreme teacher shortages in the areas involved." He also noted the teachers would have to travel considerably to serve their district schools.

Members of the policy committee are Kirchner, Clintonville; Mrs. Gordon Wentzel, Winneconne; Fred Bernegger, New London; and Dr. Elvin Prather, Maawa.

Knowles Asks Dairy Support Price Hike

Knowles said Wednesday he fired off a telegram to Freeman after being informed by a group of farm leaders that the number of Wisconsin dairy herds has dropped from 79,000 to 77,000 in the past four months.

"The support price for manufactured milk should, in my opinion, be substantially increased and I think it should be announced and made effective as soon as possible and not wait until April 1, the governor said in the telegram.

Knowles said supports should be increased to $4 a hundred pounds. The current federal policy is support at 75 per cent of parity or $3.24 per hundred.

Clintonville to Purchase School Room Dividers

Board Orders Partitions for 2 Classrooms, Gym, at Elementary Unit at Cost of $11,371

CLINTONVILLE — The board of education decided to purchase a gymdivider and two classroom partitions for the elementary school now under construction.

The items will be purchased from the Richard Wilcox firm of Aurora, Ill., at a cost of $8,187 for the gym divider and $3,184 for two classroom partitions.

K. O. Rawson, superintendent of schools, and members of the board's building and grounds committee will examine bids received from five suppliers for the hot lunch equipment and facilities. The bids range in prices from $17,000 to approximately $20,000.

Survey of Dropouts

A survey of the Clintonville school sytem and other similar school systems showed that almost 100 per cent of the former's students graduated from high school. This indicates the Clintonville system has an insignificant dropout rate.

The school district's request for funds under the federal Anti - Poverty program is being considered this week in Madison. A decision on the request is expected before the end of the week.

Rawson suggested that the next meeting of the board be devoted almost entirely to a reexamination of vocational education. It was suggested the board discuss the possibility of introducing an "air age" course, which would include math techniques in navigating aircraft.

Accused of Taking Tools and Equipment Valued at $1,500

WAUPACA — Herbert E. Mikle, 28, route 1, Gillett, charged with the theft of more than $1,500 worth of tools and equipment from the FWD Corp., Clintonville, was arraigned in Municipal Justice Court Wednesday and bound over to County Court for trial.

Property believed to have been taken from FWD and valued at $1,500 was recovered Tuesday from Mikle's Oconto County home.

A second man charged with thefts from the plant, Kenneth R. Casson, 31, route 1, Birnamwood, was arraigned on theft charges Monday, and was bound over to County Court for trial. Casson is charged with taking property valued at $154.

Wolf Wildlife Survey Scheduled

Wildlife habitat preservation and development in the Wolf River region counties is on the way to becoming a reality, according to Gordon A. Buholz, chairman of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission.

A field survey of sites in Winnebago, Waupaca and Outagamie Counties will be conducted next week by Tom Bonde, river basin staff member of United States Fish and Wildlife office in Minnesota.

Tour Area

Bonde will arrive Monday and confer with Wolf River planners and Oshkosh area conservation fish and game managers on Tuesday to review and identify top priority sites.

On Wednesday and Thursday, members of the team will inspect waterfowl and other types of wildlife habitat in the three-county area.

Wayne Truax, area game manager and collaborator with the Wolf River Planning Commission, said the U.S. Department of Interior inspection trips will have two major purposes.

Tentative evaluation will be made of the feasibility of acquiring top priority wildlife habitat areas for a purpose of wildlife preservation, flood control and low water flow augmentation. The latter consists of holding water in reserve in suitable areas, provided by nature for a more uniform flow during low water periods.

A further purpose of the field reconnaissance will be the coordination of the streambank stabilization program which will be extended to all of the counties in the region, including some sub-watersheds, in 1966.

This stabilization program of Wolf River Planning Commission was started in 1965, the first such river bank erosion control in the history of the region.

Expanded Program

Last year, $140,000 was allocated by the state ASCS to three counties of Wolf River region.

The program has doubled with the addition of three counties this year and the work has been expanded calling for increased funds. The amounts will be announced after a Feb. 17 State ASCS committee meeting.

Technical staff which will be added to the Wolf River Region Commission in the near future will include a hydrologist and a site design specialist, in addition to the land use planners presently on the staff. This, according to Buholz will enable the Wolf River Planning Commission to strengthen federal-state-county liaison planning assistance and give help to member counties with land and water compliance problems.

Scout Troop Will Aid Heart Drive at Hilbert

HILBERT -- A house-to-house canvass for the Heart Fund will be made in the village by Boy Scout Troop 79 on "Heart Sunday", Feb. 26, according to Scoutmaster Willard Franz.

In recognition of Boy Scout Week, which is this week, a display of merit badges and hobbies arranged by the troop is being shown in the Hilbert State Bank. Scouts are wearing their uniforms all this week.

During the coming weeks the boys will be concentrating on first aid in preparation for the annual "Trouble Meet" March 26 at Kaukauna High School.

Race Seeks Hearing On Wolf River Bill

Proposal Singles Out State Water; Would Aid Menominees

WASHINGTON — Rep. John A. Race, D-Fond du Lac, today moved an all-out effort to obtain an early hearing on his bill to preserve a portion of the Wolf River as a national scenic waterway.

Race made the [illegible] after meeting with Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., chairman of the House Interior Committee [illegible] and Insular Affairs. He is a member of the committee and its subcommittee on national parks to which Race's Wolf River bill was assigned.

Race said today that he withdrew the Wolf River from his Wild Rivers legislation introduced last year so he would have a better chance of action on the Wolf this year. Race's 1965 Wild Rivers Bill would have designated the Wolf and five other non-Wisconsin rivers as a nucleus for a national wild rivers system.

Although the Senate has passed the Wild Rivers [illegible] all indications point to [illegible] ing of the legislation in the House. "For this reason," Race explained, "I introduced a bill pertaining only to the Wolf River so this magnificent waterway could get the earliest possible protection."

New Proposal

Race's new proposal would not only preserve a portion of the Wolf River in its [illegible] state but would also authorize the purchase or lease of up to 10,000 acres of adjacent [illegible] land to recreational purposes.

"Most of this land is located in Menominee County," Race noted. "Purchase or lease of this land would serve a dual purpose of providing Menominee County and the Menominee Indians with desperately needed funds to combat some of the most severe economic problems in Wisconsin."

Race's bill would authorize the state of Wisconsin to administer the national scenic waterway, an arrangement similar to that in effect in the Ice Age National Scientific Reserve in the congressman's home district.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson and Rep. Henry S. Reuss joined Race in co-sponsoring the Wolf River Bill earlier this week.

Ralph E. High Served 43 Years

Co-Founder of Savings, Loan Firm At Waupaca Tells Plans to Retire

WAUPACA — Ralph E. High, the man who founded the Waupaca Mutual Building and Loan Association 43 years ago, has retired.

High was born and raised in Indiana and came to Wisconsin as a manager of a Western Union Office in Waupaca after World War I.

After giving up the Western Union position in Waupaca, he became affiliated with the now defunct National Bank of Waupaca and then entered the chicken hatchery business.

Ralph E. High

Invested $10

At the same time he started his new hatchery venture, he enlisted the interests of eight other Waupaca men and started the Building and Loan Association. Each man invested $10 and the group was in business. High was named secretary of the organization, which he managed nights while he operated his hatchery during the day. This went on for 15 years.

In the early years of the organization there were no funds to pay the secretary a salary but he was given a commission of 25 cents for each share of stock he sold to other investors.

During this time he became one of the outstanding hatchery men of the state and, because of his knowledge of eggs, he assisted U.S. Department of Agriculture officials to establish a grading system for eggs. This grading system is still in effect throughout the nation today.

The Building and Loan Association continued to grow over the same period of time and in 1936, High decided to give up the hatchery business and become a fulltime secretary for the association.

Real Estate Business

Along with his building and loan duties, High entered the insurance and real estate fields in 1944 which he continued to manage until his son, Vance, took over these two enterprises in 1947.

During his many years of association in the savings and loan business, High became an authority and his services as a consultant have been in demand from other organizations throughout the state. He has also served as either an officer or director in every major savings and loan organization and group in Wisconsin.

Now that he has retired and his son who has been named the new secretary of the firm, High plans to do some writing.

Writing Experience

This also is a field in which High has had some experience. Over the years he has been called upon to write feature articles for hatchery publications and in later years he produced articles for savings and loan publications. As a telegraph operator he also worked as a newspaper correspondent for several Chicago and Midwestern newspapers.

Over the years while fulfilling his many business commitments, High has found time to be an active civic leader and has been a member of several city and county organizations besides his church work.

Tilt Rated a Tossup

Chilton Hopes to End EW Loss String at Kiel

CHILTON—The Chilton Tigers basketball team travels to Kiel Friday night in hopes of snapping a two-game Eastern Wisconsin Conference losing streak that has knocked them out of title contention and into a third place tie.

The Tigers will have their hands full in trying to stop Kiel's hot-shooting senior, Jim Duerst. Duerst recently established a new Kiel High School career scoring record, breaking the old mark set several years ago. The six-foot, one-inch senior has scored 1,020 points with still three more E-D games and the WIAA tournament left.

Chilton Balanced

Chilton will counter with balanced scoring from John Hauser, Don Pagel and Don McHugh. Pagel leads the Tigers with 128 points, Hauser has 123 and McHugh, 117.

The game must be rated as a toss-up with Kiel playing on its home court. Kiel has a 5-5 record compared with Chilton's 6-4.

Other conference action finds state ranked, undefeated New Holstein traveling to Valders and as usual the Huskies will be a heavy favorite; Plymouth travels to Oostburg and should not have much trouble winning; Cedar Grove will be at Kohler, with the visiting Rockets given the nod and Sheboygan Falls is favored as it entertains Elkhart Lake.

Sheriff, Traffic Personnel To Employ Bargaining Agent

Majority of 2 Outagamie Units Sign Pact for Representative

A majority of Outagamie County sheriff and traffice department personnel have signed an agreement to employ a bargaining agent to represent them in dealings with the county.

The action came at a noon meeting Wednesday attended by James W. Miller, Green Bay, representative of District 4, Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employes, and county employes, many of whom are attempting to form a courthouse union.

Miller will be retained as the bargaining agent, but as a "private individual, and not as a union representative."

Head of Group

Joseph VandenOever, sheriff's department lieutenant and recently elected temporary president of a group seeking a courthouse union charter, said Wednesday's action did not constitute formation of a union in the law enforcement units.

"It is simply a step to secure a bargaining agent to represent only sheriff's and traffic people," VandenOever explained. It does not mean the same employes would not seek membership in a courthouse union, he said.

A meeting of sheriff and traffic employes will be held soon for the purpose of formally voting on retaining Miller as bargaining agent.

Permitted by Law

Wednesday's action is in line with provisions in Wisconsin Statutes which permit county employes to retain a person to represent them for bargaining relative to wages, hours and working conditions, VandenOever said.

Members of the county board's executive committee Monday told Miller that the county would not recognize a courthouse union now. The denial means the future of a union apparently will be decided through balloting by county employes.

Indications are the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) will be petitioned soon to conduct an election.

Three Persons Hurt in Waupaca Accidents

Icy Highways in County Factor in Numerous Auto Accidents; One Driver Hospitalized

WAUPACA — Three persons were injured Tuesday in mishaps which occurred on icy Waupaca County highways with Dennis Marks, 18, route 1, Marion, the only one requiring hospitalization.

Marks was taken to Clintonville Hospital, suffering a whiplash injury and cuts and bruises, when he lost control of the car he was driving two miles south of Marion on State 110 at 12:05 p.m.

County traffic police said Marks was traveling south when his car struck a patch of ice. The car broke through a steel guard rail, broke off five posts, went down a steep embankment and rolled end over end before coming to a stop. The 1965 model car was listed as demolished

In another single car accident, 10 miles east of Iola on Carper Road, Mrs. Madeline F. Jansen, 45, route 3, Iola, and her 10-year-old son, Stephen, were injured when the car she was driving went out of control and struck a tree. The mishap occurred at 12:30 p.m.

Icy Hill

Mrs. Jansen received a broken nose and cuts and bruises on both arms and Stephen received cuts on his nose and forehead

Mrs. Jansen told police she was going down an icy hill when she lost control of the car. Extensive damage was caused to the vehicle.

A Waupaca district school bus with only one student on board slid off the road four miles east of Sheridan on Smodey Valley Road at 8:30 a.m. and struck a telephone pole, breaking it off. The bus was driven by Leonard Tappa, 44, route 1, Waupaca. Tappa and the student escaped injury.

A two-car accident eight miles west of Waupaca on State 54 at 9:30 a.m. resulted in damages of more than $300. Edward L. Martinson, 38, Green Bay, traveling west over the crest of a large hill saw a large semi-trailer truck coming at him out of control on ice.

Swerves Toward Ditch

Martinson told police he swered toward the ditch and attempted to stop and in doing so was struck from behind by another west bound car driven by Charles O. Begun, 46, Greendale. Both cars came to a stop in the ditch. The truck driver managed to bring his truck under control and stopped. All drivers escaped injury.

Holes, Cracks a Problem, Wardens Say

Lake Ice Good but Caution Advised

Ice fishermen, perplexed early in the season by thawing, warm weather and weakened ice on Lake Winnebago have been dealt another setback by the weatherman, but the situation is not as critical as some reports have indicated.

Heavy rains in the last two days have resulted in some problems on the "big lake" one of the areas most popular winter angling spots.

Proceed With Caution

Fishery manager Dick Harris, of Oshkosh, offered what is probably the soundest advice available this morning. Harris said:

"The ice is still thick, anyone going out should proceed with caution. Do not fear the lake, but have a good respect for it."

Harris urged that anyone going out to fish (and there were a good number of anglers driving out this morning, Harris noted) should be careful and particularly watch for holes worn larger. The regular fishing holes can damage the wheels of a car and the open sturgeon holes are a major problem. Caution is the byword.

One of the most critical spots is the Brighton Beach section off the Menasha shore. There is a stronger than normal current in the area and Harris said he checked one sturgeon shanty Sunday which had only nine inches of ice under it.

Along the east shore, conditions have been termed "good" by conservation department authorities and the "lake people."

Kieth Reichenbach, conservation warden, said that given one reasonably cold day, the lake will be in the best condition of the winter for vehicle travel. "The ice is good," he said, but echoed Harris' advice on holes and cracks.

He advised shanty owners to get out on the lake as soon as possible to move their shanties onto dry ice if they are now situated in water. "Shanties must be removed from the lake soon after the sturgeon season, and chopping one loose that is frozen in is no easy task," he said.

At Faro Springs, Stockbridge Harbor and Quinney reports were that the ice, flooded Wednesday, was drying up rapidly. Some fishermen were taking shanties off the lake while others were moving them further out on the ice to dry areas, Gib Schoen said at Stockbridge.

Torinus Notes Twin Cities

John Torinus, editor of The Post-Crescent and chairman of the Fox Cities Education Committee, told the gathering the Fox Cities were "surprised the Brown County group did not include statistics on the Neenah-Menasha area in its presentation."

He said "this area cannot be excluded from consideration as it represents 8½ per cent of the total population in the region to be served." Torinus added that the 1965 public high school graduates from the Neenah-Menasha area accounted for 8½ per cent of public school graduates in the region to be served by the institution

The Fox Cities group, which included the Neenah-Menasha area in a brochure submitted to the state committee two weeks ago, submitted additional information on the area to the commitee.

Fox Cities Atmosphere

Najem, in discussing the cultural and intellectual "atmosphere" of the Fox Cities area, said the "terrain has been prepared" for continued development by a university faculty.

He noted the university faculty was committed to "excellence in teaching, public service and research." Najem said there are numerous opportunities for the university faculty to contribute to the community such as helping to solve the problems of stream pollution, migratory workers and urbanization.

The Fox Cities "have all the makings of an intellectulal atmosphere that would enable professors to thrive," Najem told the group.

Minahan Tells Growth

Victor I. Minahan, publisher of The Post-Crescent, said the Fox Cities are the largest, most populous area north of Milwaukee and Madison. He said the "population growth between 1940 and 1960 has been over 60 per cent," and the "communities which 30 years ago were separate in their thinking as well as physically, have now become one through urbanization."

Minahan told the group he foresaw the day when there will be a continuous urban strip from Fond du Lac to Green Bay. "The Fox Cities is where the action is, the growth is and the dynamism is," Minahan commented.

President Asks Taylor's Aid In Strategy Row

Wisconsin Senator Among Those Critical Of Johnson's Efforts

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's turning to Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a skilled diplomat who understands the military situation in Viet Nam, to ease the cold war between the President and the Senate, the place where he used to be lord and master.

Mr. Johnson had a private White House talk last week with Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, one of the 15 Democrats who signed the letter asking him not to resume bombing North Viet Nam. As a result of that talk, he dispatched Gen. Taylor to the Senate. The former U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam closeted himself with McCarthy and two other Democrats, Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin (who also signed the letter) and Edmund Muskie of Maine.

The assignment of Gen. Taylor to make peace with the restless, somewhat antagonistic, Democratic senators is overdue. Relations between the President and his old fiefdom have deteriorated dangerously in the past few weeks.

Deterioration Serious

This deterioration transcends the overt break between the President and Sen. William Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee and prime mover of the public investigation on Viet Nam. The more important aspect of the cold war is covert and subterranean. It involves middle-rank senators who in the past have been loyal Johnson men: McCarthy, Indiana's Vance Hartke, and New Jersey's Harrison Williams.

Old students of the President's ingenious handling of the Senate were suprised that Mr. Johnson sent off such an abrupt reply to the 15 Democrats who wrote him on Jan. 27. The two-paragraph reply was little more than an acknowledgement. To make his displeasure doubly known, the President attached a copy of his reasoned Jan. 22 response to a letter from 76 Democratic members of the House. The 15 senators, who consider themselves a cut above the House with a constitutional responsibility in foreign policy, took this as a slap in the face.

But the fact is they gave Mr. Johnson little room to maneuver. The letter from the House Democrats strongly supported the President's decision to "resist the terror and aggression" of the Viet Cong, but the senators offered no word of encouragement.

The result was to worsen the cold war between LBJ and his old colleagues. A year ago, when Mr. Johnson was confronted with opposition on Southeast Asia, he applied the famed Johnson treatment. Mr. Johnson held open house in the White House, explaining, cajoling and, in many cases, winning support.

Some Didn't Sign

Although this hard work paid dividends, there is very little of it going on today. For example, even though the White House had advance word about the letter from the senators, nothing was done. One senator, undecided whether to sign it or not, carefully called the White House to ask whether the letter would [illegible] the President. The answer — [illegible] — ended the matter for him. He didn't sign.

With that advance [illegible] White House [illegible] Viet Nam [illegible] senators [illegible] and the domestic cold war deepened.

He tells intimates he is more concerned over taming the Pentagon generals than he is over the Democratic senators now questioning his whole Viet Nam policy.

Nevertheless, judging from both public and private complaints of his own senators, he risks much by ignoring them. The selection of Gen. Taylor as his emissary last week was a brilliant stroke. If the President himself doesn't have the time, it is hard to imagine a better emissary.

Lawrence Sellout

Violinist David Abel To Present Concert

Tickets have been sold out for the concert of Leventritt award winning violinist David Abel to be presented as a part of the Lawrence University Chamber Music Series at 8 p.m. Monday. University officials have announced.

Violin-piano music spanning three centuries is included in the program which includes works by Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Stravinsky and Saint-Saens.

Abel will be assisted by pianist Francisco Godino.

A highlight of the program will be the Beethoven sonata, subtitled "Spring Sonata." Cast in four movements, the work has a particularly refreshing tone.

Equally significant is the Schubert "Duo," composed in 1817. Its lyrical violin melodies are described by one Schubert biographer as "flowers of romanticism in both character and construction." The sonata's interplay of violin and piano lines shows Schubert's full mastery of the chamber music style.

The Stravinsky suite was adapted by the composer from his 1920 ballet score, "Pulcinella." In its original setting in 1933, the suite was scored for cello and piano.

Abel's remaining selections, the Bach sonata and Saint-Saens "Capriccioso," stand in considerable contrast to one another. The sonata is an eloquent, expressive work; the "Capriccioso" is one of fast changing moods ranging from the poetic to passages of great technical brilliancy.

Firemen Fight Rush Street Blaze 5 Hours

'Nastiest Fire in 25 Years,' Chicago Commissioner Says

CHICAGO (AP) —A quarter of the city's firemen fought vainly Tuesday night and Wednesday to save a building on the Rush Street entertainment strip containing a theater and the famed night club Mister Kelly's.

"It turned out to be the nastiest fire I have seen in 25 years," said Fire Commissioner Robert Quinn.

The blaze caused $500,000 damage to the five-story structure and an estimated $1 million damage to the contents of the 19 businesses it housed.

The flames raged for more than five hours before the firemen, using 9 snorkels and 90 other pieces of equipment, were able to control it.

"As far as I'm concerned a faulty incinerator caused the fire," said Chief Edmund Valquet, in charge of the investigation.

Good Start

The greatest intensity of the fire was around an incinerator in the basement of the Stineway Drug Store at the southeast corner of the burned-out block, he said.

Residents of the building had been used to smoke seeping from the incinerator, he said, and thus when the fire broke out they didn't report it until it had gotten a good start.

Firemen evacuated more than 200 patrons from Mister Kelly's and another 700 from the Carnegie movie theater. They were joined on the streeets by thousands of other persons who flocked out of surrounding cabarets, bars and night clubs to watch the action.

The blaze was able to spread rapidly, Commissioner Quinn said, because the building had no fire walls. A false ceiling also hampered firemen, he said.

Fourteen firemen were injured while fighting the fire. None was reported in serious condition.

Former Kenosha Priest Becomes Archbishop Of Izmir, Turkey, See

can officials were keeping silent on specific places the vice president will visit. It is believed these will include a partially pacified area of villages and at least one U.S. troop base.

Humphrey plans to leave Sunday after what he called "nearly three days of varying intensive visitations, conferences and on the spot in the field observations."

Reporting Mission

He declined to say what other countries he will visit, but it is believed they will be Thailand, Malaysia, Australia, New Zealand and India. His mission to their governments, Humphrey said, will be to report what was done at Honolulu and the status of the U.S. peace offensive and to give them a sizeup of the military situation in Viet Nam.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman pulled into Saigon on a separate plane and from most indications he will pretty much go his own way.

Sophie worked with the top stars of several generations — Will Rogers, W.C. Fields, Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson, Jack Benny, Fannie Brice, Judy Garland, Jimmy Durante and Bea Lillie, among others.

She never hesitated to talk about herself—and never minded being kidded about her 192-pound bulk — but her age remained a bit of a mystery.

Sophie was born in Russia as her parents were making their way to America via Poland and the Baltic. The date was Jan. 13 and the year is believed to be 1888. But some sources list it as 1884 or 1887.

Explains Difference

Asked about the differences Sophie explained it this way:

"I was 16 when I first went to New York. You couldn't work in a cabaret until you were 18. So I went home and painted up and piled my hair up high and passed for 20.

"So the record shows I was 20 when I was really 16 — and it's bugged me ever since. Good Lord, I won't be alive when I'm 80."

He began painting two years ago and uses pigment sticks numbered in braille. Bright colors dominate many of his paintings.

Committee member, said that what he called "the clamor" of the anti-Viet Nam minority "encourages Hanoi and Peking to persist in their aggression, in the mistaken belief that popular resistance to war at home will soon compel the American government to withdraw from Viet Nam."

Kennan has contended that U.S. involvement in Viet Nam in its present dimensions represents "a grievous disbalance of American policy." He has said it has sacrificed possible improvement in relations with the Soviet Union and put a "deeply regrettable strain" on relations with Japan.

Possible Amendment

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., and other policy critics were trying to get together on a possible amendment to a $4.8-billion military authorization bill which might call for presidential restraint in any escalating of the Viet Nam conflict.

Clark told a reporter he may offer a policy rider but added "I am not prepared to say what its nature is. I have it under consideration with a number of other senators."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee which approved the bill Wednesday, said he would oppose any policy rider which might be "damaging to the war effort and to the morale of our fighting forces and those of South Viet Nam."

Red Missiles Hit Navy Jet In N. Viet Nam

U.S. casualties were officially described as light, and the Communist toll was not known since the Viet Cong left behind no bodies. An exploding mortar killed a U. S. Army photographer and injured or killed several other Americans. Bob Jones, military writer of the Honolulu Advertiser, was hit in the back, leg, and hands by fragments from the mortar but was reported in good condition

Hit By B52s

During the night, elements of two U. S. 101st Airborne companies collided with a Viet Cong force near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, where Allied forces have been protecting the rice harvest in Operation Van Buren in the last three weeks. The sector had recently been pounded by Guam-based B52s.

The paratroopers said the fighting was so confused at times it was impossible to say who was firing on whom.

Other elements of the 101st sweep force came to the rescue and artillery and jet fighters supported the beleaguered unit with a heavy barrage. The Americans fired riot control gas at a suspected Communist position, and the Reds twice renewed the attack during the night.

Casualties Light

U. S. casualties were light, a spokesman said. The Viet Cong left four bodies behind after the first skirmish. Their total losses were not known.

Since the 101st Airborne, South Korean and government forces launched the operation to deny the Communists the small delta area's 48,000 tons of rice, they have killed 563 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops, a spokesman said. Another 225 may have been killed. 43 Communists have been captured and 586 suspects have been detained, he added.

To the north, a Marine patrol ran into an estimated 50 Viet Cong Wednesday in Quang Ngai Province, 330 miles northeast of Saigon and killed three in a firefight before withdrawing, a spokesman reported. The Marines returned with reinforcements but were halted by small-arms fire. Armed helicopters and Marine jets took over the job, and later 14 Viet Cong bodies were found, the spokesman said.

Convoy Hit

A small Communist force ambushed a convoy between the important new port at Cam Ranh Bay and Phan Rang, the 101st's home base. Reports from the area, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, said Allied casualties were light and that the convoy continued.

The area around Cam Ranh Bay has been almost immune from Viet Cong activity, but the guerrillas are expected to begin applying pressure as the multimillion-dollar deep water port grows and takes on a more important role in supplying government and Allied troops.

A Laotian Defense Ministry spokesman in Vientiane, capital of neighboring Laos, expanded on Wednesday's reports that Communist tanks had been sighted along the Ho Chi Minh Trail, the North Vietnamese supply route to the south. He said some tanks were spotted in December and that since then eight more have been reported by Laotian pilots.

6 in an effort to ease bitter dissension between the two factions. The rebels have complied.

Wednesday's violence claimed the lives of three students, two civilian bystanders and two policemen. One of the policemen was drenched with gasoline and set afire after deing clubbed and stabbed by an angry mob.

A U.S. television cameraman who filmed the incident said he heard the wounded officer groan as flames licked his body.

Authorities said one of the civilian victims, Jacinto Caamano, was a cousin of the former rebel chieftain, Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, who was sent to London as a military attache by Garcia-Godoy.

The disorders, which lasted far into the night, began when some 600 students marched on the National Palace during the morning. They were demanding the restoration of financial assistance to universities which the government recently cut off while investigating charges of misappropriations of university funds.

5 Firms Answer Ad

New Yorkers Return Needling From Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A few weeks ago Illinois gave New York City the needle about its succession of woes. The big city is now beginning to feel the sting.

But some outraged New Yorkers are also showing that the slings and arrows can go the other way.

Lists N. Y. Woes

The ad, which catalogued recent New York misfortunes and extolled the virtues of living and doing business in Illinois, has brought a deluge of letters from aroused New Yorkers upon the offices of the Illinois Department of Economic Development.

"That ad was great, wild, mad, fun, tremendous, fabulous, funny and I loved it," wrote one reader.

But a woman asked plaintively: "How could you mock our darling New York the way you did?"

"Sure," she admitted, "our water is low; our lights went out; we had no papers; we had to hitch a ride to work. All this broke up the monotony of everyday living. It created new jokes. All the folks came out of it with a smile. Illinois must be dull without any of these interruptions. You don't know what you are missing."

Illinois Problems

Another reader among the hundreds who wrote said

"Allow me, O supercilious Midwesterner, to set you straight. Your ad is an ill-concealed attempt to recover the countless talented intelligent people who are leaving that cultural wilderness you call home and are coming to New York."

A Catholic priest wrote "The Paulist Fathers, since their founding in 1858, have had their headquarters in New York. I am writing to ask if your office would advise our moving the office to Illinois. Or would you feel that perhaps it should remain at the service of people in a disaster-prone area?"

"P.S. Taking no chance with the New York mail service I am posting this in Chicago," he added.

Glamorous Item

"There is one glamorous Illinois item you forgot to mention," wrote an 83-year-old woman. "Your state has enough money to pay for the advertisement."

Another letter said "We would rather live in New York despite the water shortage, blackout, etc., than be buried by tornadoes or boredom in Illinois."

The Declaration of Honolulu

President Johnson's swift trip to Hawaii to meet Premier Nguyen Cao Ky of South Viet Nam along with various high military [illegible] officials of both governments [illegible] dramatic. But whether anything more than histrionics will result is certainly not clear in the Declaration of Honolulu, statements of purpose of each government and a common commitment.

The declaration emphasizes the efforts both governments are going to make in a "national [illegible] adventure" to improve agriculture, health, education and a [illegible] participation [illegible] in the building of a free, independent, strong and peaceful Viet Nam. The government of Premier Ky pledges especially to formulate a constitution in the next few months and take it to the people for discussion, modification and ratification and to create an elected government. It offers amnesty in an open arms program to the Viet Cong although it also says the Viet Cong must be defeated.

The government of the United States states its purpose in Viet Nam as "only to prevent aggression." But in addition it will give its full support to measures of social revolution including land reform based upon the principle of building upward from the hopes and purposes of all the people of Viet Nam. To this end President Johnson has already dispatched Vice President Humphrey and Secretary of Agriculture Freeman to Saigon. In addition several teams of experts in the fields of health and education will be sent soon.

Obviously the common commitment is not something very many people can be against. It includes defense against aggression, the work of the social revolution, free self-government and attack on hunger, ignorance and disease as well as "the unending quest for peace." But except for the teams of Americans going to Viet Nam there is nothing in the declaration to explain how they are to be accomplished in the middle of a vicious jungle war.

Had this emphasis upon creating a social revolution been inaugurated several years ago, before the Viet Cong became more active in its terroristic and brainwashing campaigns against the South Vietnamese villagers, there might now be no such crisis in Viet Nam. Probably it is better to suggest the program now than never. But implementing the projects in a country where the majority of the territory outside the large cities is held by the enemy is hard to imagine.

It may be that continued success by the American and South Vietnamese ground troops—and there appears to have been such success in recent days—combined with the new efforts to win "the war for the hearts of our people" can extend the areas now held by the government of South Viet Nam and cause more defections from the Viet Cong. This worked in the Philippines although under far different conditions since the Communist Huks there did not have the extensive support from outside which the Viet Cong do. The declaration contains nothing about more American troops being sent to Viet Nam although reportedly Premier Ky asked for some 600,000 and General Westmoreland has put the figure at about 400,000, more than twice that now in the area. Nothing was said about bringing the war to North Viet Nam either although Premier Ky has been quoted as favoring such action.

It is unlikely that the Declaration of Honolulu will go down in history as any sort of remarkable document which President Johnson clearly desires. It may serve to convince some of our allies of our honorable intentions in Viet Nam and perhaps the North Vietnamese that we will not be driven out. But whether it reaches the people of South Viet Nam, which should be its main target, is a doubtful point.

Recreational Waters Zoning

As the population of Wisconsin increases and as the movement of recreational traffic into our state from the immense heartland of America hopefully increases also, there will be more severe conflicts among the competing recreational water users in our lake regions. The area of land and water won't grow with the population and the increasing recreational appetites resulting from more generous leisure time of our people in the future, as a current conservation department bulletin reminds us.

"Without regulation, overcrowding and habitat destruction will become universal reality," the essay by a department biologist somberly warns.

The comment is by way of introduction to a progress report on the lake and stream classification surveys undertaken several years ago by requirement of state law. The surveys are being made to provide the basic resource data required for planning, and eventually, for the zoning of our recreational waters to provide reasonable opportunities for the competing water use interests.

As it happens, this classification project and others of considerable long-range importance in Wisconsin resource management were inspired by the work of Gaylord Nelson, now United States senator for Wisconsin, when he was governor. There is a legend that Governor Nelson was annoyed during a muskellunge fishing excursion on a Vilas County lake by the interference of speeding motor boaters and water ski contest participants.

Mr. Nelson returned to Madison and as he reported his disappointing experience to conservation department officials was informed that such conflicts of water user interests will become increasingly difficult in the future and point to the need for some advance planning for the ultimate zoning of our waters after the precedent of land use zoning in the more progressive municipalities and counties. Thus was the classification survey born.

The Conservation Department report notes correctly that the towns and counties now have such water zoning authority if they want to employ it. But relatively little has been done, for what are perhaps obvious reasons. Town jurisdiction is frequently incomplete in some water districts. County officials are often reluctant to act, in part because of financial disabilities. Because of the apparent reluctance of local governments in the areas of most critical need, state zoning bills have been introduced into several recent Wisconsin legislative sessions. Eventually, we would suggest, some form of state intervention or encouragement will be required and will win public acceptance. We must never forget that our waters are public waters, reserved for public use in perpetuity under fundamental law. It is the responsibility of this generation to assure effective public use in accordance with the wishes of the founders.

The Governor Is Raided

Civil rights workers in Mississippi have been warned to be particularly careful not to break the state's prohibition laws since authorities in that state have a way of using the widely violated law to put people in line for other purposes. Now it appears that the Governor himself has been so reprimanded.

Some days ago Governor Paul Johnson broke [illegible] of Mississippi's past governors [illegible] for a reform of the liquor situation in his state. Decrying the widespread violations and the black market [illegible] tax income Mississippi [illegible] from the illegal sale [illegible] whether [illegible] or whether the state should [illegible]

A few days later [illegible] Chief [illegible] out went the [illegible]. So did the champagne [illegible] officers had to break down the door with sledge hammers since no one seemed to know the whereabouts of the key.

Despite the episode—or perhaps because of it—there may be some more honest appraisal of Mississippi's unique attitude toward alcohol. Unless the voters want liquor sales to become legal, Governor Johnson has threatened to "dry up the state like the Sahara Desert." But changing everything won't be easy.

In the first place a lot of voters are likely to believe the threat an empty one and that a vote to continue prohibition puts them on the moral side without really changing the availability of bourbon and branch water. Secondly, the present liquor dealers who are really bootleggers are naturally opposed to [illegible] into their own long established [illegible]. Mississippians are used to [illegible] about alcohol [illegible] to change in a [illegible]

Since the state has a whopping tax [illegible] has one agency [illegible] ways of notifying the officials responsible for enforcing prohibition, legislators may not be anxious to change. Only the real threat of enforcement which would even cut off the lucrative income to the state may be successful in influencing the voter.

Looking Backward

Historical Society Started in 1849

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 24, 1866.

The Society was organized on the 30th of January, 1849. Little was done, however, beyond a mere organization, until January of 1854. At that time the Society was reorganized. There were then 50 volumes, all of which were state laws, journals of the legislature, and public documents, except two volumes of transactions of the American Ethnological Society and a volume on American bibliographical literature.

A small book case, three and one-half feet wide and four feet high was amply large enough to contain these five years' collections.

The library now has 21,366 volumes, bound and unbound, of which 1,136 are bound newspaper files. Of the latter, 138 were published in the last century, several of them by Dr. Franklin, and one volume in the century preceeding.

The Society has, moreover, 60 oil paintings, mostly portraits; over 400 atlases, maps and diagrams, some of them giving us the vague ideas entertained of the American continent nearly 200 years ago.

The Society also has an exceedingly interesting collection of mementos and relics of the recent war, and many curious articles, both natural and artificial, sent from various sections of the state.

Right of Americans to Travel Freely Should be Settled by Highest Court

BY MAX FREEDMAN

It is devoutly to be hoped that the asserted right of a private American citizen to travel freely to the country of his choice, without any restraint from the passport office of the Department of State or the Department of Justice, can be thoroughly tested in the courts. At present there are many obscurities both in the law and in the administrative process.

The current issues arise from the Viet Nam war, though they could arise just as easily from an unauthorized trip to China or Cuba. The Department of State has revoked the passports of Professor Staughton Lynd of Yale, Mr. Herbert Aptheker, and Mr. Thomas E. Hayden for going to Hanoi, which is off limits by official decree at this time for ordinary citizens. Mr. Aptheker is an important official of the American Communist Party. Mr. Hayden helped to found a new radical youth organization, Students For a Democratic Society.

Freedman

All three of them, but most particularly Professor Lynd, have said venomous and offensive things in protest against American policy in Viet Nam. That in itself is no crime. Our tradition of free debate becomes a mockery unless it permits the widest range of discussion on the most sensitive and divisive issues before the country. Besides, most constitutional questions have arisen because disagreeable people with a limited talent for good manners challenged the official view or broke through the conventional and complacent taboos of public conduct.

ISSUE DIFFERENT TODAY

During the McCarthy era, the passport controversy became acute because of the charge that fear of communism was leading to arbitrary interference with the right to travel. During those years the central questions concerned fair play and equity in administrative procedures, with the aggrieved person having the right to face his accuser, to hear the evidence against him, and to present a full defense.

The issue today is rather different. It would be very hard to get the federal courts today to strike at a citizen's passport merely because of the views he had advocated. A more overt act touching on national security would be required to justify reprisals.

In the present case, the defense of Professor Lynd and his two colleagues is clear, though not conclusive. They all argue that they have gone on a mission of peace to Hanoi, and peace in Viet Nam cannot be considered dangerous to the security of the United States. In addition, it is difficult to produce any evidence that will stand up in court that these men did anything in Hanoi which was disloyal or subversive or contemptuous of national security.

GUILTY OF STUPIDITY

They may be guilty of the most arrogant stupidity in thinking they could read Hanoi's mind better than the State Department ever can. They may be in open violations of the Logan Act which forbids such private diplomatic activity. But the precise scope and meaning of the Logan Act have never been established, and stupidity and arrogance are not unconstitutional.

In every period of national stress and anxiety, and above all in a time of war, the pressures to silence dissent and impose conformity become almost fierce in their urgency. Many cruel injustices are inflicted during these periods, of which the nation repents once the hot fit has passed. But repentance is a shabby atonement for injustice.

Whether Professor Lynd keeps his passport or loses it is a small matter. But it is of decisive importance that the American government should not turn apostate to its own traditions of freedom. It must not use a national anxiety to crush out dissent and make noncomformity a path of fire. This whole question of passports should be settled in the courts, with the Department of State being required to prove that it is right rather than Lynd and company being compelled to prove that they have done no wrong.

Revision of Primary Election Laws Seems Headed for Oblivion

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The idea of revising the Wisconsin presidential primary law to make it more realistic and practicable has apparently become a casualty of the higher priority interests of the politicians. Nothing has been heard lately about the committee named a couple of months ago by Gov. Knowles. The committee represents the practicing politicians of both parties for the purpose of reviewing amendments of the kind that most political managers privately believe would be advisable.

Wyngaard

A meeting of the group which Knowles called at the end of the year has been cancelled and there is evidently no plan now to bring the men together. A little later this year most of the members will be engaged in projects of more immediate concern to themselves—including the business of getting re-elected. If no attempt is made before the May session of the legislature, the matter will almost surely be dropped. By the time the 1967 legislature convenes the lines will be visible with respect to the presidential and vice presidential nominations in the following year. The partisans on both sides of the system will have no stomach for tampering with the Wisconsin delegate selection machinery.

* * *

THE FAULTS

Whatever the hopes and the ideals of the men who wrote the provisions of the Wisconsin presidential primary law long ago, they are inadequate for the reliable testing of electoral sentiment today, as Rep. John W. Byrnes, who led the Wisconsin Republican convention delegation in 1964, so effectively explained after the 1964 convention, nominations and campaigns.

There is an increasing doubt that the nomination process can be effective or accurate in terms of reflecting popular wishes when the primary is "open" as the word has it, when Republicans can vote in Democratic primaries, and Democrats can vote in Republican delegate selections and do.

But a more dubious assumption of the law, aside from the crossover invitation, is that the electoral pattern can accurately reflect the real or serious wishes of the rank and file electorate when the listing of the candidates is at their whim, when they can file or pass according to their tactical considerations, and quite without regard to the ideal of free popular expression.

Much has been made about the 1964 Wisconsin Democratic presidential primary, which the late Mr. Kennedy chose to enter out of strictly tactical considerations. He won it by a narrow vote. But can anyone say that he was the true choice of the Wisconsin voters on that raw spring day in 1964, when then Sen. Johnson, the late Adlai Stevenson, Sen. Symington, among other Democratic contenders, and the known and active Republican aspirants, were not listed on that ballot?

* * *

UNIQUE CHARACTER

A New York editor recently concluded that the "unique" Wisconsin system is "exiciting." But a Wisconsin voter may reflect whether this state's election machinery was designed to be "unique," or to amuse and entertain the rest of the country.

Election laws are not easy to change. There should be no illusions about the prospects with regard to the Wisconsin presidential delegate selection mechanism. Yet it will be hard to quarrel with the view that if it is intended as a test of the true preferences of the people of Wisconsin, even with its "unique" invitation to crossover voting, it should offer the voter an honest listing. Four years ago there would have been at least three Republican candidates, and at least five Democratic listings. Oregon, sometimes linked with Wisconsin for the progressivism of its election machinery, puts on its primary ballot the names of all aspirants recognized in the consensus.

Guarding Your Money As Hard as Getting It

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: Only one thing is more difficult than following a diet or refraining from smoking or any such regimen—and that is to restrain ourselves from trying to impose it upon others at the same time.

Harris

Just as each of us falls victim only to certain diseases that are "compatible" with our constitution, so does each of us fall in love only with certain broad types who are compatible with our temperament; and if our temperament is a self-defeating one, our choice of a love-object will inveribly be a person who will promote and hasten this self-defeat.

What the poor will never know is that getting a lot of money is only half the battle; the rich are aware that guarding it is even more arduous than acquiring it, and not nearly as pleasant.

The greatest mistake any age can make is to believe that something called a "fact" is necessarily true, while something called a "myth" is necessarily false—for no truth resides in a fact by itself, and the deepest truths can often be revealed only through myths.

The therapeutic (and self-renewing) value of family life dies not lie in its camaraderie and congeniality, but in the reverse—that it provides an environment in which we may be uncongenial when we like, without suffering the penalty of rejection or retribution.

Young people know less than we do, but they understand more; their perception has not yet been blunted by compromise, fatigue, rationalization, and the mistaking of mere respectability for morality.

Naivete can get people into trouble, but on the other hand it is probable that more people are saved from disaster by their naivete than others are saved by their sophistication.

Ninety per cent of what we call "accidents" are not true accidents at all, but the inevitable consequence of carrying a cracked pitcher to the well once too often.

When we win in any contest, we always attribute too much of our success to our skill, and not enough to our opponent's ineptness; only the real expert is aware that most contests are lost by the loser more than they are won by the winner as in a tennis match, where the number of errors, and not the number of placements, determines victory.

Union Labor Cool Toward Democrats

May Curtail Its Support of Candidates in Fall Elections

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor, once an acknowledged primemover behind President Johnson, is deep in the winter of its discontent with the White House and Democrats

And unless Johnson and Congress thaw the growing chill, the Democratic party could lose a major slice of labor's support when it needs it — in this year's congressional elections

Altogether, labor union members and their families pack the potential political wallop of at least 35 million voters This compared with the total of 70,000,000 votes cast in the 1964 balloting that resulted in Johnson's landslide victory and the biggest Democratic majority in Congress in nearly 30 years

In this year's nonpresidential elections, the Democrats face the historic trend that the party in power loses seats in Congress

Labor's Complaints

Labor's complaint against the way the political winds are blowing in the capital is three-fold

— Union chiefs think Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has been dragging his feet on the bill to repeal Section 14B of the Taft-Hartley Act This is the section which sanctions laws in 19 states banning union shop contracts, under which all employes must join the union

— Johnson's statement to Congress that he is considering some kind of antistrike legislation to deal with labor disputes that threaten "irreparable harm" to the national interest Labor leaders have been trying to figure out what he may have in mind

—Johnson's refusal to hike White House wage guidelines from 3.2 to 3.6 per cent in line with latest national production figures The guidelines set the size of wage increases acceptable to the White House as noninflationary

Johnson is catching at least part of labor's blame for failing to hold the Senate in session around the clock to break the Republican filibuster that shelved the 14B repeal bill last year

President P L Siemiller of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, the nation's fourth largest union with nearly one million members, said "I'm perfectly willing and prepared to recommend to our members that any member of Congress who failed to stand up in favor of repeal of 14B forfeits any machinists' dollar and vote

Only Legislation

One union chief pointing to labor's strong support for Johnson "Great Society" measures said the 14B repeal is "the only piece of legislation labor is asking for itself"

Although the AFL-CIO has never accepted the White House wage guidelines Meany accused Johnson and his economic advisors of changing the rules in a slap at labor in holding to the four-year-old 3.2 per cent figure

The guidelines are based on annual average increases in manhour productivity and the government's own figures show it has gone up to 3.6 per cent— 1965 figures are added

"How can union leaders, responsible to their members, be expected to accept such sudden and one-sided revision of the method of arriving at the wage guidelines," snapped Meany

Reaction to Johnson's anti-strike proposal is more cautious because no one knows what he has in mind but any action to limit labor's ultimate weapon is sure to raise more hackles among union men

Many union leaders believe Johnson merely threw out the reference during the recent New York transit strike to balance criticism that he had been harsher on industry in rolling back price hikes than on labor

But Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz has indicated Johnson's anti-strike proposal is being followed up, apparently in the pre-legislative stage

Favors Wage Hike

Still, there are signs that Johnson is moving to placate disgruntled labor leaders Wirtz for the first time recently held out hope that the White House would propose an increase in the $1.25 federal minimum wage something Johnson had been shying away from

And many labor spokesmen think one of the most important labor measures in years is the administration's bill to set federal standards and raise unemployment payments, which now vary sharply from state to state

"This is the real showdown between us and the big boys" in industry an AFL-CIO spokesman said

Reflecting the view of many observers the spokesman said major industries have little interest in fighting the repeal of 14B because it is easier for them to deal with one union and cut down internal dissention between union members and non members

Speaking of leaders of big business the AFL-CIO spokesman said

"They would just as soon we had the 14B repeal, but the unemployment compensation bill will cost them money"

53-Foot Drifts

Eastern Storm Nothing Compared to One in '88

WASHINGTON — The Blizzard of '66 tried hard, but it takes second place to the legendary Blizzard of '88. That was a blast

Both storms wreaked white havoc along the East Coast, piling up enormous drifts, stopping traffic, isolating cities and taking lives. The storm in March, 1888, however, was more vicious

The 1888 winds were fiercer, the snow deeper The furious gale blew the water out of Baltimore harbor, briefly exposing the muddy bottom The main street of Pittsfield Massachusetts, was buried under 20 feet of snow

Cataclysmic Meeting

The National Geographic Society, founded in January, 1888 featured a detailed biography of the storm in the first issue of its magazine, published in October of the same year

Both blizzards resulted from a cataclysmic meeting of two storms In 1888, a Navy scientist explained in the Geographic, one storm began with a great arched line of cold winds and snow moving from the north The other carried warm rain and winds north from Georgia along the Atlantic coast Similar conditions prevailed in 1966

When the two 1888 storms collided however, high pressure over Newfoundland kept the storm from surging out to sea

The Blizzard of '88 concentrated its fury on New York City. Snow began sifting down Sunday night, March 11 By Monday morning, drifts were knee-high Before noon, every horsecar, cable car and elevated train had stopped running

Firemen raised ladders to rescue passengers from stalled elevated trains

Streets were perilous Wind ripped off signs and rocketed them about Stone cornices toppled Loose ends of broken telephone and telegraph wires whipped through the air Ice and snow from two to 15 feet deep choked Broadway and other main thoroughfares

Department stores had designated Monday as Spring Opening Day, a handful of customers appeared Stranded clerks spent the night on mattresses — under the watchful eyes of chaperones

Saloons did a brisk business Even bedraggled sparrows hopped inside one bar, and were treated to crumbs from the free lunch

200 Ships Lost

Atlantic winds raged with hurricane force From Chesapeake Bay to Nantucket, 200 ships were blown ashore sunk, damaged or abandoned Nine New York pilot boats were lost with all hands

Forty to 50 inches of snow fell in Connecticut and western Massachusetts A drift in a New Haven street towered 53 feet The storm of Jan 29-30, 1966, dropped less snow, but it was followed by other storms

The 1888 blizzard abated on Tuesday, and the mammoth task of digging out began By Thursday it was business almost as usual in cities — amid a sea of slush On Friday trains were running, and communications wires had been repaired
